PRESIDENT'S TRAIN HERE 10 MINUTES

A handful of Atlantans got a glimpse of President Roosevelt yesterday as his special train stopped here, on its way to Warm Springs, where the chief executive is spending his Thanksgiving vacation, to change engines.

The President's train arrived at the Terminal station at 1 o'clock and left for the Meriwether county resort 10 minutes later. The chief executive was seated in the observation car and waved a greeting to the several score persons on the platform, most of them station employees. Members of the President's staff, secret service men and newspapermen got off for visits with friends.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 21.—Returning to his favorite health resort after an absence of a year, President Roosevelt, a picture of health from his recent cruise through Caribbean waters, arrived at Warm Springs late today to receive an enthusiastic welcome from hundreds of his Georgia friends and neighbors.

The special train which brought the President and his party from Washington pulled into the unpunctuated Warm Springs station at 4 o'clock, exactly on time. Several hundred persons, including officials and unofficial committees from Greenville, Manchester and surrounding towns were on hand to greet the nation's chief executive, while a special guard of honor was provided by the Meriwether Civilian Conservation Corps, more than 200 strong.

Misjudging his distance the engineer of the train overshot the station by some 50 feet, the presidential pri-

Decatur Bond Issue Gets Small Majority

Decatur's $800,000 bond issue for water, school and sewer improvements apparently had passed by a small majority on the face of unofficial returns of yesterday's elections.

Although the bonds were given a majority, apathy of voters imperiled passage. Only 1,506 persons visited the polls during the day.

Official results will be announced by the city commission Monday night and in the interim the registration lists will be purged.

WPA will add more than $150,000 to the bond issue for the projected improvements, thus bringing the total amount to be expended to nearly $250,000.

The unofficial total vote for bonds was:

For schools, 1,447; against schools, 58; for waterworks, 1,433; against waterworks, 62; for sewers, 1,442; against sewers, 50.

'The Chief' Comes Home to the 'Little White House' in the Georgia Pines for Annual Thanksgiving Visit

Beaming and radiant with pleasure, President Roosevelt is shown above seated in the automobile which took him to "The Little White House" at Warm Springs shortly after the special train from Washington pulled into the Warm Springs railroad station at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. With the President in the rear of the car is Miss Margaret Leland, a member of the chief executive's secretarial staff.

Standing on the platform of his special train, and smiling greetings to welcoming friends, President Roosevelt is shown above at the Warm Springs station. Misjudging the distance, the engineer of the train overshot the station by about 50 feet, the presidential car coming to a halt in the middle of the highway. Cheers and acclaim from the crowd greeted Roosevelt on his arrival. Staff photo by Kenneth Rogers.

250 Motorcades Will Converge On Atlanta for Roosevelt Day

Nearly 250 motorcades, each comprised of from 100 to 1,000 people, are coming to Atlanta for the Roosevelt Homecoming Celebration here a week from today, James R. Gray, of Atlanta, chairman of the general motorcade committee of the celebration announced yesterday.

Of these, 171 are to come from the 150 counties of Georgia and the balance from the neighboring states of Alabama, Tennessee, Florida and North and South Carolina.

"There will be at least one motorcade from every county in our own state and two from some counties," Gray said. "Although our committee is not operating outside of the state we have reports that nearly 50 cadets are being organized outside our borders."

Handling of Crowds Planned.

Gray said that he had instructed the members of his statewide committee to report to him by next Wednesday just how many cars would be in each motorcade and how many people would be expected as a result of them.

General Chairman Erle Cooke, of the celebration committee, said that the map of the city of Atlanta showing where the motorcades would be held would be led into Atlanta by Representative Brasswell Dean, of Alma, Congressman Dean represents the second district in which the speaker lives, at Lakeland. Speaker Rivers was to have ridden at the head of the caravan with Congressman Dean but was forced to make new arrangements as he has a speaking date at the Villa Rica turkey trot next Wednesday, the date being made before the date for the homecoming celebration was announced.

McIntyre Pleaded.

Chairman Cooke last night conferred with Marvin H. McIntyre, secretary to President Roosevelt, advising him that arrangements for the President's trip to Atlanta are practically completed. While the President's train stopped here briefly yesterday afternoon, McIntyre reported himself immensely pleased with the arrangements and said he was confident that the President would enjoy the largest crowd in the history of the south next Friday.

"I am glad that the committee has made such arrangements that will permit everyone in the city that day to see and hear the President," the presidential secretary said. "With such a set up the crowd ought to be tremendous."

Housing Plans Made.

Meanwhile arrangements for the caring of the tens of thousands of visitors who will be unable to get hotel or rooming house accommodations was going forward through the woman's division of the Chamber of Commerce. Under the direction of Mrs. George Ripley Jr., chairman of Mayor Key's housing committee, and Mrs. Wilbur Colvin, executive secretary of the woman's division all rooms available in private homes are being assigned to visitors and persons having available space have been asked to register it.

TOTAL FOR CHEST REACHES $155,666

Forty Per Cent of Quota Raised; Leaders Are Optimistic Over Campaign.

New givers and increased gifts by those who have always done their part, helped yesterday to raise the total pledged in the thirteenth annual Community Chest campaign to $155,666.

This was approximately 40 per cent of the $412,500 that is the goal of the drive that closes Thanksgiving.

Workers at the second report meeting at the Athletic Club brought in pledges of $60,640 for the day, which maintained the rate of increase set on the previous day.

The second meeting was taken in charge by the groups division, directed by Morton Rolleston, which attended with the North Fulton hand and reported pledges of $13,100.55 for the day.

McDuffie Speaks.

Phil C. McDuffie, associate director of the division, was one of the speakers, urging workers to complete their jobs as soon as possible.

"Some of the workers in the groups division are lagging behind, and we are going to begin checking on them," he said.

"We have a tremendous job, contacting $5,000 individuals in over 900 firms, and we've got to get it done," Mr. McDuffie told the workers that if they ever understood the real job of raising the annual fund would be simple.

"If you find the work of selling the Chest is too hard, you have failed to catch the vision," he said.

Visit to Agencies Urged.

"Visit some of the agencies. Learn how the Tuberculosis Association held 496 clinics and made over 10,000 nursing visits in the first six months of this year in the battle to stamp out this disease. Watch the happy little children at Hillside Cottages. Such visits will give you a real insight into the work we are making possible."

"If you really believe in the Community Chest, in its kindly ministrations, in its indispensable civic service, you will be able to contribute to it with enthusiasm to those you contact and success will follow naturally."

554 New Givers.

Boyer M. Edens, executive director of the Chest, pointed out that the first day of the campaign produced 554 pledges from persons who had never given before—more than 10 per cent of all those who subscribed.

ICKES URGES BAN ON OIL FOR ITALY

Industry Called Upon To Comply Voluntarily With Efforts of America.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes called on the oil industry today to obey the "letter and spirit" of President Roosevelt's neutrality proclamation by halting shipments to warring Italy and Ethiopia.

Acknowledging that he had no authority to restrain shipments of petroleum and its products, the oil administrator expressed a belief that loss of this export trade would not force prices downward. The price of crude petroleum has remained around $1 a barrel, the figure prevailing before the supreme court NRA decision wiped out federal authority to control production.

A Commerce Department report showed slightly smaller in October than in September.

It listed exports of crude petroleum in September at 4,971 barrels compared with 4,810 in October. Shipments of refined mineral oils were 7,067 and 5,101 barrels, respectively, gasoline 2,678 and 2,195, lubricating oil 691 and 632. For the first 10 months, however, 1935 showed increases in classifications over 1934.

The Bureau of Mines' estimate of December demand, which formerly constituted production "allowables" but is now only advisory, put daily average seasonal decline. The estimates of exports of gasoline, including national gasoline, for December, 1935, has, accordingly, been raised again, this time to 2,400,000 barrels from 2,310,000 barrels in November.

The predicted export demand compared with 32,750,000 barrels of gasoline for domestic consumption. But it was emphasized that oil is one of the chief commodities shut off by application of League of Nations sanctions.

"We adopted a policy of not selling any oil to Italy some weeks ago," an Humble Oil & Refining Co. executive said. The Humble is a Texas subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. "All that we have shipped was sold prior to that time."

The local office of the Shell Petroleum Corporation indicated that the company was not engaged in the export of either oil or products from the United States.

A Gulf official said that, while he did not know that any definite policy had been formulated, he did not think the company would sell to the belligerent.

Fascist High Command Claims Ras Seyoum and Natives Routed

ASMARA, Eritrea, Nov. 21.—(AP)—

Defeat and rout of cunning Ras Seyoum and his Ethiopian warriors by four Italian battalions in a mountain battle was reported today to the fascist high command.

In full flight and carrying their dead, the tribesmen melted away into the Tembien fastnesses, with the four battalions and a squadron of Italian horses hoping to encircle the enemy before Seyoum could rally his men, in pursuit.

How many of the Ethiopians were slain was not known. The Italian losses were described as "small."

The Italian command finally caught up with Seyoum near Abano pass, in the Tembien mountains not far from Makale.

But the crafty Ethiopian northern commander chose to show his forces at a moment when only one of the Italian battalions, composed entirely of native troops, confronted him.

From their lofty mountain positions the Ethiopians opened up a sharp machine gun fire, but after some hours of fighting fled when they realized the superior strength of their forces.

An aviation reconnaissance over the Mai Mesic valley region disclosed, meanwhile, that Ethiopian forces scattered by Monday's air raid were concentrating again in the same locality.

Apparently the tribesmen were using every possible means to shelter themselves from another such aerial raid, but the Italian observers said their efforts were crude.

(Italian sources said there were 2,000 killed or wounded in Monday's bombardment, but the Ethiopian authorities asserted their losses were meager.)

SID TILLER NAMED TO WELFARE POST

Labor Leader Succeeds Harrington as Chairman of Fulton County Board.

J. Sid Tiller, Georgia labor leader, yesterday was elected chairman of the Fulton county welfare board to succeed W. Eugene Harrington, who resigned.

The new chairman has served on the board for nearly two years and formerly was president of the Georgia Federation of Labor. He served several terms in city council and at present is chief statistician in the office of Solicitor-General John A. Boykin.

Possibility that Harrington, who has been an active civic worker for years, will remain as a member of the board was seen yesterday, when workers urged him "not to desert us now."

Dr. Charles R. Adams, chairman of the county commission and a member of the welfare board, pleaded with Harrington not to quit as a member of the board and the civic worker agreed to give the matter consideration.

Business will keep Harrington away from Atlanta a large part of the time in the future, but he definitely assured the board members he will be available as much as he can to counsel them.

Tiller pledged himself to a continuation of the welfare program already being carried out under the plans of Harrington.

The co-ordination of all city and county health activities will be a major task of the new chairman, who is a physician and a member of the medical profession.

County engineers and architects met yesterday to work on plans for the proposed convalescent home. They are attempting to discover some way Fulton county can participate in the project.

BRITAIN CREDITED WITH POSTPONING CHINESE PARTITION

Showdown Expected Saturday With Life of Ministry Said in Balance; Fear Troops May Act Independently of Tokyo.

MILITARY OPPOSES COMPROMISE PLAN

Mikado Turns Problem of Reforms in North China Over to Nanking Government Leaders.

By The Associated Press.

A Japanese political crisis was created Thursday by a drive of civilian leaders for moderation of the north China independent program.

Militarists strongly oppose a proposed compromise, which would allow the Chinese national government to maintain some sovereignty over the five great northern provinces.

For the time being, the civilians appeared to have the upper hand and the autonomy movement came to at least a temporary halt.

A showdown was anticipated at a meeting of the cabinet Friday with Koki Hirota, foreign minister, representing the moderates and Minister of War Yuki Kawanishi the militarists. Political observers said the life of the cabinet might hang in the balance.

A high Chinese official said Hirota wanted to soft-pedal the autonomy movement for fear Japan's demands for naval tonnage parity would be jeopardized at the December London naval conference.

In London, informed sources intimated Great Britain had a great part in checking the independence drive. It was indicated she used influence to curb Japanese activities in North China and to stiffen the resistance of the Nanking government.

As an indication of the softened Japanese policy, officers of the empire turned over to the Chinese government the problem of pushing reforms in North China.

Fear was expressed in official Chinese national government circles that the independence movement might go through if Japan's army acts independently of Tokyo.

After an anti-Japanese demonstration in Singapore by Chinese laborers, a Japanese hospital was placed under guard. Windows of the hospital were broken but police cleared the area.

JAPS RELINQUISH PROBLEMS OF NORTH CHINA REFORMS

SHANGHAI, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Japanese officers turned over to the Chinese national government today the problem of reforms in North China, but fear was expressed in official quarters the independence movement may yet get the upper hand.

The Japanese foreign office caused a hitch in the northern autonomy movement, a high ranking official here.

FUNERAL RITES TODAY FOR MRS. W. McELREATH

Funeral services for Mrs. Walter McElreath, wife of Walter McElreath, prominent Atlanta attorney, and well known church and civic leader, will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at the Grace Methodist church, with Dr. W. A. Shelton officiating.

Mrs. McElreath was drowned accidentally Wednesday morning in a swimming pool near her home, 3512 Piedmont road. Discovery of the body was made by her husband. The verdict of accidental drowning was given by Coroner Paul Donohoe Wednesday afternoon.

Before her marriage Mrs. McElreath, the former Miss Bessie Anderson, achieved considerable note as a program singer, instrumentalist and music teacher. She has been closely associated with religious and civic activities and was a past president of the Wednesday Morning Study Club and the North Side Library Association. She was a former president of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Grace Methodist church.

Burial will be in the cemetery at Powder Springs with H. M. Patterson and Son in charge.

STATE SCHOOL HEADS TO MEET HERE TODAY

Tax and Revenue Problems Will Be Before Georgia Superintendents.

Tax problems and revenue for public schools will be the chief subjects for discussion before the Georgia Association of Superintendents, which opens the first session of its annual convention at 9:30 o'clock this morning in the Henry Grady hotel.

The proposed 15-mill limitation of taxes on real property is expected to receive its share of fire. Dr. Malcolm Bryan, of the University of Georgia, will speak on "Tax Support for the State in Lieu of the 15-Mill Exemption Amendment." Tax problems also will be discussed by Tait Wright, of Athens, secretary of the County Commissioners' Association, and Rush Burton, editor of the Lavonia Times.

A legislative program for education will be outlined by B. M. Grier, superintendent at Thomaston, will talk on high school athletics. The educators, here from all parts of the state, will be welcomed by Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Teachers' Association, and S. D. Copeland, of Augusta, will respond.

In the afternoon, Miss Gay B. Sheperdson, Georgia WPA administrator, Dr. S. Y. Sanford, chancellor of the University System, and L. L. Perry, state supervisor, will make addresses. Braswell Deen, congressman from the eighth district, will speak tonight. During the business session, officers are expected to be elected.

The session tomorrow is to be held in the administration building of Georgia Tech. Dr. Donk Campbell, of the Georgia Peabody College for Teachers, and Dr. M. D. Collins, state superintendent, are expected to speak.

Many Pledge Signers Suggesting Methods of Aiding Safety Drive

Additional Suggestions Are Sought by Council; Drivers' License Law Plea Is Made; Number of Defective Lights Cited by Motorist.

Pledge signers of The Constitution Safety Council's safe driving campaign have become safety letter writers. Letters are always welcomed by the council. Many of them contain valuable suggestions of means of cutting down the ghastly toll of dead and injured from automobile accidents. The fact that Georgia gained the title during the past week-end of the most dangerous state in the Union for auto drivers and pedestrians seems to have spurred the letter writers.

The very doubtful honor was bestowed on this state after 13 Georgians were killed during Saturday, Sunday and Monday in automobile accidents, piling up a greater casualty list than any other state.

S. P. Gentry, manufacturers' agent of Atlanta, has become an enthusiastic safety pledge observer and declares himself another in the long list of exponents of a state drivers' license law.

Drivers' Law Sought.

He says: "Here with my signed pledge assuring you of my full accord with your campaign devoted to safer driving in our good state."

"Now when this next Georgia legislature convenes why not go a step further and put in some time to the adoption of a program that will bring about the consummation of the drivers' license law?"

"Such a law on our statute books would, in my estimation, do much to eliminate from our streets and highways incompetent drivers of automobiles. Of course such a law as this drivers' license law would accomplish very little unless traffic officers delegated with the responsibility of enforcing such a requirement see that automobiles are not allowed to be driven freely unless the driver's license is signed and properly attested at the time the state license tag is issued."

"I offer this suggestion because I am one of many loyal citizens of Atlanta and of our fair commonwealth that is most anxious to see our traffic lanes made safer for those drivers and pedestrians who so earnestly strive to give to the other fellow the consideration he is entitled to."

Another letter writer, who asks that his name not be used, tells of a

BITING TEMPERATURES GRIP MIDWEST AREA

Highways Made Impassable As Heavy Snow Falls in North Dakota.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Snow in a half-dozen states accompanied by biting temperatures brought wintry conditions a month ahead of its formal advent to a wide midwest area. North Dakota had the lowest temperature, 12 below zero at Minot, and the most snow—enough in some areas to make roads impassable. The mercury rose slowly through the day.

Minnesota got some snow, which also extended into northern Iowa, where up to two inches fell. In northern Minnesota below zero minimums were prevalent.

The Chicago area, where the season's first light snow dusted the ground this morning, prepared for a temperature the weather bureau forecast would fall to 20 above during the night. Several other midwest points expected similar readings, but forecasts generally indicated tomorrow would be warmer. As South Dakota's light general snow arrived the mercury stood at two above at Watertown. Nebraska experienced flurries and some snow fell in the Milwaukee (Wis.) vicinity.

Farly cloudy with temperatures around 30 was the forecast for the Kansas City area.

BAYNARD WILLINGHAM DIES IN COLLEGE PARK

Cotton Firm Executive Was Active in Church and Civic Work.

Baynard Willingham, noted textile executive, churchman and civic leader, died yesterday morning at his home, 297 East Rugby avenue, College Park. He was 66 years old and had been secretary and manager of the Egan Cotton Mills since he came to College Park in 1921 to organize the firm.

He was formerly secretary and manager of the Piedmont Mills, which he founded at Egan, Ga., in 1900. Active in church and civic work in College Park, Mr. Willingham was a member of the board of deacons of the First Baptist church and was a former member of the city council.

Born at Macon, Ga., Mr. Willingham attended the Albany schools and was graduated from Mercer University in 1889. He was a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. From Mercer, he went to Poughkeepsie, N. Y., to business school.

He came to Egan in 1900 and remained with the Piedmont Mills until he resigned to found the Egan Company in College Park. He was associated with the latter firm at the time of his death.

In 1906 Mr. Willingham married the former Miss Luile Boty, of Middle-town, Ohio.

He is survived by his wife; three sons, Baynard Willingham Jr., Thomas H. and Frank B. Willingham; a daughter, Mrs. J. C. Wilson, of Smithfield, N. C.; two sisters, Mrs. H. H. Tift and Mrs. I. W. Myers, of Tifton; a brother, W. J. Willingham, of Winterhaven, Fla., and a granddaughter, Miss Vivian Willingham.

Mr. Willingham was a brother of the late B. L. Willingham and W. B. Willingham, widely known lumber executives.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the College Park Baptist church with Dr. L. E. Roberts, Dr. James E. Baggott and Dr. Ellis A. Fuller officiating.

Palbearers will be E. D. Barrett, Fred Shaefer, Dr. Hoyt Trimble, W. F. Northcutt, Grant Allen and J. W. Stephenson. The board of deacons of the church will form an honorary escort.

Burial will be in College Park cemetery with Howard L. Carmichael in charge.

$385,365 PROJECTS

RESCINDED BY PWA

$45,000 Grant for Steiner

Clinic Among Jobs Affected by Action.

Loans and grants, aggregating $385,365 for 20 Georgia projects have been rescinded by the Public Works Administration in Washington, because of "financial difficulties of applicants," it was announced yesterday.

At the same time, new allotments totaling $350,000 were approved on 14 projects in the state.

Among the rescinded projects was the $45,000 grant for the Steiner Clinic at Atlanta. This was to provide $100,000 for erection of a ward unit. Mayor Key vetoed the proposal, and council sustained his action. The mayor contended the city could not provide the $350,000 demanded of the city for the undertaking.

The allocations cancelled follow: Spalding county school grant, $5,400; Cummins waterworks loan and grant, $43,638; Suwanee school loan and grant, $30,383; Buena Vista school loan and grant, $10,000; Swainsboro roads and bridges grant, $11,700; Ludlow water works loan and grant, $13,638; Hainesville school loan and grant, $4,545; Muscogee county hospital grant, $20,250; Blackshear school grant, $13,500; Liberty county auditorium and armory loan and grant, $5,455; Thomasville sewage disposal plant grant, $42,152; Montgomery county courthouse repairs grant, $13,718; Milledgeville building repairs grant, $22,500; Taylor county hospital, $14,850; Winder water works loan and grant, $21,518; Moultrie hospital grant, $22,500; Buena Vista hospital grant, $11,475; Hazelhurst water works loan and grant, $10,000; and Mr. Moriah school loan and grant, $2,727.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—A committee of lawyers representing the nation's major railroads today studied plans for an early attack on the constitutionality of new railroad pension legislation.

The attorneys have held frequent meetings since the carriers decided November 8 to bring a suit. A spokesman for the Association of American Railroads, said, however, the method and procedure to be followed still are under consideration.

Unlike the first rail pension act, which was invalidated last spring by a five-to-four supreme court decision, the new legislation is separated into two laws.

One provides payment of pensions ranging up to $120 a month to the nation's 1,000,000 railroad employees after 30 years of service or when they reach the age of 65. The payment would be made from the federal Treasury.

The second law imposes a federal tax of 1.2 per cent on the railroads' pay rolls and 3 1/2 per cent on employees' salaries. The retirement act and taxes are effective March 1, and annuity payments are to begin 90 days later.

Whether the railroads will contest both new laws, or merely the tax law, the government might face the prospect of paying out sums ranging from an estimated $50,000,000 in 1936 to an estimated $16,887,000 in 1965 to finance annuities for the rail workers.

J. J. Pelley, president of the railroad association, has placed the first year's cost to the railroads for pensions at $54,000,000. The carriers report a net deficit of $16,887,000 in the calendar year of 1934, and one of $98,080,000 for the first nine months of this year.

JOHN P. BUTT RITES WILL BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for John P. Butt, owner and operator of the Automobile Glass Company, who died Wednesday night in a private hospital, will be held at 11:30 o'clock this morning at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son with Dean Raimundo de Ories officiating.

He lived on Rosboro road. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

WATKINS RUNNING INDEPENDENT RACE

Decatur Resident Announces Plans for City Commission Contest.

Robert L. Watkins, well known in Decatur and Atlanta for many years, has announced that in his candidacy for city commissioner of Decatur to fill the unexpired term of R. C. Henderson, resigned, he is running the race "free from all factions and policies, with no alignments of any nature."

Mr. Watkins, who is the son of the late P. O. Watkins, prominent in civic, educational and church activities, said: "I am entering the race so that if elected, I can enter my activities as commissioner toward upholding the same high standards of attainment the city of Decatur is known for. My efforts will be centered upon making Decatur an even better community in which to live. Having lived in practically every section in the city, I believe I am familiar with the needs and problems facing the citizens in each section."

Mr. Watkins moved to Decatur 20 years ago, and since then has been active in all civic affairs. He is a graduate of Decatur High school and the Georgia School of Technology, being a member of the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity at the latter institution. After graduation, he entered the sales promotion and advertising fields, and is now vice president and treasurer of his own firm. Mr. Watkins has been interested in Boy Scout work for 10 years, having served as field and district commissioner of the Atlanta council. He is a steward in the First Methodist church, Decatur, and a teacher in Sunday school. He also is a captain in the United States army officers' reserve corps.

Two Diminutive Visitors Disrupt Key's Routine

Mayor Key yesterday had two visitors to the executive offices, whom Luke S. Arnold and Mrs. Ruth Godwin, secretaries, did not attempt to divert.

Little Miss Carol Tillman Butler, 50 days old, and Miss Gay Butler, nearing three years old, Key's granddaughters, were the visitors. Key smiled broadly, welcomed them, and holding little Carol in his arms, allowed her to sleep while he gave only cursory attention to the city's business.

The youngsters are children of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Butler. Mrs. Butler before her marriage was Miss Ruth Key, only child of Atlanta's veteran chief executive.

Directions for making Aunt Jemima Waffles
1. Mix milk or water with equal amounts of Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour according to package recipe.
2. Have waffle iron just hot enough. To test, put a drop of water on iron. If it goes right up in a puff of steam, iron is too hot. If it bounces around a second before evaporating, iron is hot enough.
3. Grease iron very lightly. Don't pour grease on. Spread it thinly with pad or brush.
4. Pour batter into iron. Let bake until a golden brown.

One or order to your grocer brings everything for this marvelous low-cost meal. Complete with printed easy directions. Wonderfully quick to make with the special waffle blend that guarantees far more fluffiness.

TODAY you can make the same fluffy, soul-satisfying waffles that were the talk of the Old South—with Aunt Jemima's secret recipe.

It's easy for you to get them light and well-done because Aunt Jemima's special blend guarantees far more fluffiness than ordinary bread or biscuit flour. For Aunt Jemima's contains only about half the amount of gluten of ordinary flour. And gluten is the taffy-like substance in flour that resists heat and slows up the baking process.

That's why, with about half the gluten of ordinary flour, Aunt Jemima's waffles come out so perfectly done, so tender, fluffy and light in the few short minutes waffles are on the fire. And note this, ladies, an Aunt Jemima waffle, a square of butter and 1½

THREE MEALS A DAY

HOME TESTED RECIPES
 BY Sally Saver

Thoughts of old New England Thanksgiving meals create mental images of preparations which began weeks in advance. Large hams were roasted, mince meat prepared, and finally as the joyous occasion drew near, rows of pies were arranged on pantry shelves before attention was turned toward the festive turkey. From this hectic rush of life, we turn back with pleasure to enjoy the traditional Thanksgiving Day turkey dinner, still fundamentally the same as it was two generations ago. Fundamentally the same, but how different.

 Cut together seedless grapes, oranges and grapefruit, saving the empty halves of oranges. In the orange shells from which the fruit has been removed, place the first mixture and sprinkle with powdered sugar. If desired, the orange shells may be cut in points to increase their attractiveness.

Roast Turkey or Chicken.
 Wash and singe the dressed fowl. Rub with salt and pepper, inside and out, and stuff, pressing the stuffing firmly into the fowl. Tie the legs down firmly to the body and place in a roasting pan. Grease well with butter or olive oil, dredge with flour and place in a hot oven (about 450 degrees F.) to sear the outside quickly and prevent the escape of the inner juices. After about 25 minutes, lower the heat to a moderate oven (375 degrees F.); baste with water to which a small amount of butter and 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce have been added. Cover the pan, if desired, and bake until the breast is tender. Baste several times during the baking and allow from 20 to 25 minutes per pound of fowl.

Chestnut Dressing.
 One quart of chestnuts, 1-3 cupful of bread crumbs, 2 tablespoonsful of butter, 2 tablespoonsful of cream, 1 teaspoonful of onion, minced; 1-4 teaspoonful of pepper, 1 teaspoonful of celery, minced; 1 teaspoonful of salt. Shell and blanch the chestnuts, then cook in boiling water until tender. Mash and rub through a colander and mix well with the other ingredients. Use as a stuffing for turkey. Thyme may be used as seasoning instead of onion.

Turkey Giblet Gravy.
 Turkey giblets, chopped; 2 cups turkey drippings, 12 saltine crackers, rolled fine; 3-4 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper.
 Simmer chopped giblets in 2 cups dripping in covered pot. Brown cracker crumbs in frying pan and add turkey dripping and giblets gradually. Season and cook until of desired consistency. Serves 10 to 12. All measurements standard.

Something delightfully different, in a salad dressing to serve with a heavy meal, is the recipe given here.
Fluffy Cooked Dressing.
 One egg, 2 tablespoons flour, few grains salt, 1-3 teaspoon dry mustard, 1-4 cup lemon juice, 3-4 cup pineapple juice, 12 marshmallows.

Sift the flour, mustard and salt together, add to the egg, well-beaten, and make a smooth paste in the top part of the double boiler. Cook and stir until the mixture thickens. Then drop the marshmallows into it and let them melt. Stir the mixture to make it smooth, set into a pan of cold water to chill and to thicken, and serve quite cold, on a salad. This dressing is simply wonderful with head lettuce.

Candied Sweet Potatoes.
 Cook six medium-sized sweet potatoes. When cool peel and cut them in halves lengthwise. Place in a buttered baking dish and pour over them a syrup made of 1-4 cupful of water, 1-2 cupful of yellow sugar and 2 tablespoonsful of butter. Bake frequently with the syrup while baking and bake until the sweet potatoes are tender and golden brown.

Cranberry Sauce.
 Four cups cranberries, 2 cups granulated sugar, 2 cups water.
 Boil cranberries with water until berries stop popping. Strain through fine sieve, add sugar and stir; then boil rapidly for 8 to 10 minutes—or until a drop jells on a cold plate. Turn at once into a wet mold, and cool.

Pie is almost as traditional for the end of the holiday feast as turkey is for the beginning. And to have the pie really "up" to the rest of the meal it must be the kind that simply melts away in your mouth. And it must be either mince or pumpkin.

Mince Meat Pie.
 Line a pie pan with pastry rolled to 1-8 inch thickness. Fill with mince meat, using a 1-pound tin or jar of mince meat for an average size pie. Moisten edge of crust with a few drops of water and cover with a top crust which has been slit in several places to allow the escape of steam. Press edges firmly together and bake in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 15 minutes, reduce temperature and cook in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until done, or until mince meat boils. A few drops of cream brushed over the top of the pie helps to make it brown nicely.

Pumpkin Cream Pie.
 Crust—Forty ginger snaps, finely crushed, 1-2 tablespoons butter. Mix above ingredients thoroughly and pat firmly with palm of hand in buttered 9-inch pie plate. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 6 minutes. Cool before filling with:

Filling—One and one-third cups of cooked, mashed pumpkin (fresh or canned), 1-2 cup brown sugar, 5-8 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon ginger, 3-4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-8 teaspoon cloves, 1-8 teaspoon nutmeg, 4 teaspoons sparkling gelatin, 1 tablespoon cold water, 2 tablespoons boiling water, 1-4 cups heavy cream, whipped.

Combine pumpkin and sugar and heat well until sugar is thoroughly dissolved. Mix salt and spices and sift into pumpkin mixture, beating well. Moisten gelatin with cold water, add boiling water, and stir until gelatin is dissolved and immediately add to pumpkin mixture. Mix thoroughly. Carefully fold whipped cream into pumpkin mixture a tablespoonful at a time. Put into pre-baked pie crust and chill in refrigerator 3 to 4 hours. Serves 6 to 8. All measurements standard. If fresh pumpkin is used, cook, drain and mash to make 1-3 cups

These things give Merita Baked-in Flavor Bread its distinctive flavor. But even more important, we bring Merita to you at the peak of its freshness. Merita is baked just a few hours before you buy it. When you

UTILITIES WILL APPEAL HOLDING ACT DECISION

Arguments in Case To Be Heard in January Term at North Carolina Court.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 21.—(AP)—An appeal alleging 11 errors was filed today with the United States circuit court of appeals to the decision in which United States District Judge William C. Coleman held the 1935 public utility holding company act invalid in its entirety.

Arguments in the case will be heard during the January term of the court at Charlotte, N. C. Judge John J. Parker, presiding judge of the circuit court, announced. The circuit court is now sitting here.

The Baltimore case began with a petition in which trustees of the American States Public Service Company asked that Judge Coleman instruct them whether they should or should not file with the Federal Securities Exchange Commission as required by the holding company act. The company is in bankruptcy and under the jurisdiction of the federal court.

Banco, Inc., intervening creditor of the American States Company, entered the case to ask that the trustees be directed to register with the Securities Exchange Commission as required by the holding company act. The company is in bankruptcy and under the jurisdiction of the federal court.

Judge Coleman's sweeping decision held that the act was "invalid in its entirety," and instructed the trustees not to register.

GAS. CO. WILL NOT REGISTER WITH SECURITIES EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Consolidated Gas Company of New York does not intend to register with the Securities and Exchange Commission under the holding company act or to apply for exemption therefrom, it was revealed today. Neither will the company seek registration for any of its subsidiaries.

DELAWARE POWER COMPANY ASKS COURT TO BAR ACT

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 21.—(AP)—The Delaware Electric Power Company, a majority of whose outstanding voting securities are owned by the United Gas Improvement Company, of Philadelphia, today asked the federal court today to enjoin the enforcement of the public utility holding company act.

The United Gas Improvement Company filed a similar suit in Philadelphia yesterday on the ground that the act is unconstitutional.

It was announced that the board of directors of the Delaware Electric Company decided not to register the company with the Securities and Exchange Commission as required by the holding company act.

PHILADELPHIA CO. ATTACKS LEGISLATION OF HOLDING ACT

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Following the action of the United Gas Improvement Company, the Philadelphia Electric Company, one of the former's largest subsidiaries, challenged the constitutionality of the public utility holding act today.

The electric company, which owns or controls a number of smaller corporations, filed a bill in the federal district court asking an injunction against the members of the Securities and Exchange Commission from enforcing the act.

2 BURGLAR SUSPECTS CAPTURED BY POLICE

The intruder fled, and Crawford gave chase, firing several shots at the ground in efforts to halt him. Shortly after he was joined in the chase by Radio Patrolmen W. S. Sutherland and S. B. McGarity, and the suspect was captured.

He gave his name as Frank Richardson, 30. Police said soap and other merchandise were found in his pockets.

The other suspect, H. G. Shannon, 23, 381 Glenwood avenue, S. E., was arrested after Albert L. Watson, 108 Georgia avenue, S. W., called police and reported his home had been entered at about 4 o'clock yesterday morning through a side window.

Insurance Executive Here to Open Office

Attending the "house warming" of the new Atlanta offices of the State Mutual Life Assurance Company is Chandler Bullock, of Worcester, Mass., president, shown at left, Henry M. Powell, Atlanta general agent, is shown at right as he greeted the president yesterday afternoon at the Brookwood station. The dedication ceremony will be held at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the new offices in the Healey building.

Insurance Company President Here To Open Office, Notes Rapid Growth

Chandler Bullock, president of the State Mutual Life Assurance Company, of Worcester, Mass., arrived at Peachtree station yesterday afternoon and before he had been here half an hour expressed surprise at the rapid growth of the city during the last two decades.

"The last time I was here was during the World War," he said, "and Atlanta was then just a good-sized town like Worcester, with a population of about 200,000. It is interesting to note how the city has grown and to learn that the population has nearly doubled. And all this time Worcester and many other cities have remained practically the same."

The insurance firm president is in Atlanta to attend the "house warming" of his firm's Atlanta branch at their new offices in the Healey building.

The larger quarters of the company will be formally dedicated this morning, with a number of general agents of the firm attending the ceremony.

"There is one thing I am very happy to say our company has done," declared Bullock. "We have aided the south substantially in an economic way. We have loaned outstanding of approximately $3,100,000 in Georgia alone and I believe premium payments received by us are considerably less than that. This money is naturally directed into economic channels, most of it going to Atlanta business."

"This is a warm, beautiful place," he continued. "I'm just a little partial to the south. I left my golf clubs at Worcester, along with two inches of snow, because I knew I would not have time to play here. And they were specially selected for me by Bobby Jones. I certainly feel like getting out and swinging a club in this warm air. No wonder the good golfers come from the south and from California. You have so many more months to play."

"Business is good," he said in returning to the graver subject. "We are expanding, as are most companies. And we expect things to keep on getting better, with the depression teaching more people the importance of insurance than ever before."

In addition to Mr. Bullock, the following general agents of the State Mutual are in Atlanta for the opening of Mr. Powell's new offices: Frank W. Pennell, New York city; George S. Lott, Dayton; T. F. Hazen Jr., Knoxville; S. W. Sparger, Durham, N. C.; W. Harry Jackson, Cleveland; Roy Witt, Knoxville, assistant general agent. General agents attending with their wives are Norton Ives, Detroit; Alex and Irwin Hertzman, Louisville.

Bullock is the seventh president of the State Mutual and the third in direct line of his family to serve in that capacity as head of the company. Bullock has been connected with the company since 1903 and after serving as general counsel for several years was elected president in 1927. Bullock's grandfather, the late Alexander H. Bullock, was a governor of Massachusetts.

The State Mutual, with home offices at Worcester, Mass., is one of the oldest life insurance companies in the United States having been incorporated more than 91 years ago in 1844.

The visit to Atlanta of President Bullock and various general agents of the company is a rare demonstration of esteem and friendship for Henry M. Powell, general agent here of the company, who has been associated with the State Mutual for the comparatively short time of nine years.

Powell, a native of Reedsburg, Wis., after service with the A. E. F. during the World War, became financial representative for the Red Cross in the southeast. He was so impressed with the business possibilities of Atlanta that he came to the city in 1921 and entered the life insurance field. His former associates in the insurance field believe that Powell set a record during his first year in Atlanta that has never been equalled—that of securing an application every day for 123 consecutive weekdays.

A full schedule has been planned for Bullock, who arrived yesterday afternoon. On Friday he will conduct an agency meeting in the early morning at the company's new offices, 405-09 Healey building. At 10:30 o'clock he will make a short talk opening the new offices. Friends of the company have been invited to hear and meet Bullock. Mrs. William T. Healey Sr., president of the Healey Real Estate and Improvement Company, will respond briefly. At 11:30 o'clock Bullock will make an inspection of the Retail Credit Company's general offices. General agents of the company and their wives will be the guests of President Bullock at 1 o'clock at luncheon at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

On Friday afternoon he will inspect various Atlanta industrial plants and other points of interest. In the evening Bullock, visiting general agents and a group of prominent Atlantans will be the guests of Walter C. Hill, president of the Retail Credit Company, for dinner at the Piedmont Driving Club at 7 o'clock.

To Inspect Properties.
Saturday morning Bullock will inspect various Atlanta industrial properties. At noon he and other visitors will be luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Powell at their home, 105 Montgomery Ferry drive. In the afternoon Bullock and other members of the party will be the guests of Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, at the Tech. He will return to Worcester Saturday night.

Powell became general agent of the State Mutual in 1926 and the large volume of the agency's expansion under his management and that of Benjamin H. Neely, associate general agent.

Since adopting Atlanta as his home, Powell has always been active in civic and charitable enterprises. He is past president of the Atlanta Life Underwriters' Association; is now secretary and treasurer of the association and a member of the executive committee. Powell is also a member of the Managers' Club, which is composed of general agents and Atlanta managers.

PARIS AGAIN HIKES DISCOUNT RATES

France Seeks to Stem Gold
Outflow, Save Franc Stability.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The Bank of France raised its discount rate again today, changing it from 4 per cent to five per cent. It was the second increase in a week.

The action was taken in a renewed effort to halt the outward flow of gold before it threatens the stability of the franc.

The rate for advances on securities was raised from five to six per cent and on 30-day advances from four to five per cent.

Fears of the eventual devaluation of the franc continued to find expression in the press with financial sources pointing to a drop in the value of government bonds on the bourse, the difficulty of borrowing money, and bad business as signs of fear.

In its statement today, the Bank of France reported withdrawals of gold worth $35,000,000 francs during the week ending November 15.

This statement brings the gold withdrawals for three weeks to 1,768,000,000 francs with the outflow continuing at a heavy rate.

The gold reserve on November 15 was 70,380,000,000 francs, providing a 73.82 per cent coverage on bank notes.

DIGEST POLL SHOWS NEW DEAL IS LOSING

First Report Gives 53.28
Pct. Against; Georgia
Is for It.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(UP)—First returns in the Literary Digest current poll of New Deal sentiment show 53.28 per cent of negative votes to the question: "Do you now approve the acts and policies of the Roosevelt New Deal to date?"

The returns, to be published in Saturday's issue of the weekly, totaled 60,053 voters from five states in the south and west. They are the first batch of a 10,000,000 ballot straw vote, taken in an attempt to forecast the 1936 presidential election.

President Roosevelt's "other home state" of Georgia, and Oklahoma gave the New Deal majorities in first tabulations. Iowa, Kansas and Missouri, the other states in the first group, rejected the administration.

Editors of the magazine said 500,000 ballots a day were being sent out this week to the 48 states. A periodical analysis of the straw vote will be published from time to time, with new totals weekly. In previous similar polls, the magazine's straw vote has been remarkably accurate in forecasting election results. For example, the poll forecast the shattering of the "solid south" in the 1928 Hoover-Smith contest.

A previous poll on the New Deal, to practically the same voters, in the spring of 1934, showed a national sentiment of 61.15 for the administration to 38.85 against it, a larger percentage of popular approval for the President than he received with 59.15 of the official Roosevelt-Hoover vote in the 1932 election.

Georgia's initial representation of 3,947 votes in the current poll showed 2,778 endorsing the New Deal to 1,169 hostile ballots. The percentages are 70.38 "yes" and 29.62 "no." In the 1934 poll, the division was 82.43 "yes" and 17.57 "no."

"This at first glance, might indicate to some observers a loss in New Deal popularity," the editors comment. "Possibly they will associate it with the attacks on the New Deal by Georgia's Governor, Eugene Talmadge."

"However, the Digest repeats that it would be futile, at this stage of the poll, to attempt to draw definite conclusions."

$650,000 ROAD WORK TO BE AWARDED TODAY

The State Highway Board today will let contracts for about $650,000 worth of paving, grading and bridge work in widely scattered sections of the state. Bids will be opened at 10 o'clock this morning and the successful contractors announced at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

A number of important projects, including the paving of three more miles of the new Atlanta-to-Buford highway, are included in the letting.

TWO GIANT AIRLINERS POISED FOR LONG HOPS

China, Philippine Clippers
Twin Symbols of Man's Conquest of Air.

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Two giant luxury airliners—sisters under their shining metal skins—roar westward tomorrow in twin symbol of man's extending conquest of the air.

One, the China Clipper, will take off at Alameda, Cal., for Hawaii, Midway Island, Wake Island, Guam, the Philippines and finally China, nearly 9,000 miles of water to be traversed in four days.

The other, the Philippine Clipper, newly delivered from the Martin factories at Baltimore for tests here, will boom up off Biscayne Bay at dawn en route to Acapulco, Mexico, San Diego, Cal., and San Francisco, to follow the China Clipper into trans-Pacific service.

Commanding the China-bound ship will be Captain Edwin C. Musick, who flew Pan-American Airways' first international flight, just over seven years ago, from Key West to Havana. Another veteran, Captain R. A. Dahlstrom, will handle the Philippine Clipper.

A third huge clipper, the Hawaiian, will be delivered soon.

Marvels of mechanical engineering and human ingenuity are all these 25-ton all-metal vessels, which share the distinction of being the nation's greatest airliners.

Their wings spread 130 feet, from nose to rudder they measure 90 feet. Their luxuriously-fitted cabins are 11 feet, 3 inches wide. Their height, from hull bottom to fin tip, is 25 feet.

Four great Wasp engines, atop the single wing, turn up 3,200 horsepower for each ship. Tanks in wing and hull carry 4,000 gallons, or 12 tons, of gasoline. Unloaded, each clipper weighs nearly 25 tons; loaded, 51,000 pounds. Pan-American Airways calculate its useful load at 28,000 tons. In tests, the China Clipper carried 51,300 pounds gross weight to 18,200 feet. Speed of the great ship at water level is 165 miles per hour; at 18,000 feet, in tests, that was stepped up to 182 miles per hour.

Forty-six passengers and crew can be carried for normal flights, while 24 passengers, the crew and one-ton of mail can be transported the 2,400 miles of non-stop flying between California and Hawaii. There are berths in which 18 passengers may sleep.

LOCKWOOD RECITAL IS WELL RECEIVED

Brilliant Presentation Given at Peachtree Christian Church by Virtuoso.

Charlotte Lockwood, one of the foremost women organists of the country, revealed concert organ playing in a new and glamorous light to a "packed house" at the Peachtree Christian church Thursday evening. The huge audience sat in rapt attention from the first number to the finale, a real tribute to an organ recital. Her recital was a presentation to Atlanta music lovers by the Atlanta chapter of the American Guild of Organists, Ethel Meyer, dean.

Miss Lockwood is a virtuoso of the organ, though there is no strain to impress with her technical abilities. She subordinates her technique to fine expressions, rich with color, and endowed with excellent musical taste. There is a clarity about her playing for which her auditors were very grateful, for often there is not such clear tonal enunciation on the organ.

The audience was also enthusiastic over hearing a program that was far from being trite. Miss Lockwood introduced several numbers to Atlanta, and it was refreshing to hear her interpretations of these modern numbers.

To cite the highlights of a program that was all so genuinely enjoyed is perhaps unjust, but to the writer there was most appeal in her masterful performance of "Fantasy and Fugue on the Chorus" "How Brightly Shines the Morning Star" by Max Reger; the fascinating tonal color in "Pensee d'Automne" by Joseph Jongen, and the intricate and exquisite chorale, improvisation on "In Dulci Jubilo" by Karg-Elert.

Marines Guard 'Little White House' as Young Friends Await President

Alert and true to the tradition of "the situation is well in hand," the detachment of United States marines, shown above, line up in front of their quarters near the "Little White House" at Warm Springs. They will guard President Roosevelt during his stay in Georgia.

The little patients of the Warm Springs Foundation eagerly awaited the arrival of President Roosevelt yesterday. On the grounds of the Foundation, they await the President on his annual visit to the Foundation, in whose behalf he has done much. Staff photo by Kenneth Rogers.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT GREETED BY FRIENDS

rate car coming to a halt in the middle of the highway. Shifting its position, a White House car, which preceded Mr. Roosevelt to Warm Springs, pulled alongside. Shortly afterward the President, accompanied by secret service men and Marvin H. McIntyre, of the White House secretariat, made his appearance on the observation platform as the crowd shouted a wild acclaim.

Going to his open-top auto, Mr. Roosevelt, beaming through a whole-some coat of tan, addressed words of greeting to many of his old friends whom he recognized in the crowd.

"Hello, Jake," he said, extending a hand to former Sheriff Jake Jarrell, of Meriwether county, and present mayor of Greenville. "Will you look after Gus and see that he behaves himself on the trip." The Gus referred to is Gus Ginnerich, the President's personal bodyguard.

Spotting former Judge Henry Revell, of Greenville, the President hailed him in a similar intimate vein: "Hello there, Henry. Perfect day you arranged for us on arrival. It's good to be back after so long a time."

To the others, including officials of Warm Springs Foundation and local residents, Mr. Roosevelt addressed personal inquiries.

Except for the corps of Washington newspaper correspondents, secret service operatives and the usual battery of photographers and newsmen, the informality of the scene was more suggestive of Mr. Roosevelt appearing in his former Warm Springs role of private citizen than the chief executive of the nation.

At "Little White House," following the fanfare at the station the President and his party drove to the "Little White House" on top of the hill, which will be the nerve center of the nation's vast governmental machine for the next three weeks. Here Mr. Roosevelt will remain until the morning of November 20, when he goes to Atlanta to address a mammoth Georgia homecoming celebration, which is expected to witness an outpouring of Georgians to hear him give an accounting of his New Deal administration.

After delivering the Atlanta address he will again return to Warm Springs, remaining until December 8 before departing for Washington via Chicago, where he speaks to a national conference of agricultural leaders December 9. Mrs. Roosevelt did not accompany him on the trip from Washington, but is expected to join him later.

Plans Exercise.

While the President came to Warm Springs primarily for the annual Thanksgiving Day dinner of the Warm Springs Foundation, of which he is the honorary head, he will make use of the occasion to exercise himself in the health-giving springs of the foun-

'Chilling' Eaters Boast; Truth Suffers Agonies

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 21.

Arrival of the presidential train at Warm Springs late today was followed by a unique challenge in gastronomy involving a famed or infamous Georgia dish and the head of the White House secret service detail.

Recalling the capacity of Colonel E. W. Starling, White House secret service personage in question, for chilling consumption on previous visits, former Judge Henry Revell, of Greenville, himself a noted epicure of the dish, has invited the colonel to a contest.

"Before Colonel Starling came to these parts," said Judge Revell, "I was known as the champion chilling eater of this section of Georgia, but the colonel thinks he's entitled to the title. We'll have to fight out over the frying pan."

Judge Revell, of wide abdominal expanse, boasts of being able to "put away" a chilling as long as from Warm Springs to Greenville, nearly nine miles. He says Colonel Starling, a six-footer, who acquired his appetite for the savory dish in his native Kentucky, makes a counter claim of consuming a length equal the distance between here and Atlanta.

"There's just one thing to do and I've issued the challenge," Judge Revell added. "A time and place will be set later. All we need is for some one to furnish the supplies."

Dating back to the time before he was elected governor of New York, Mr. Roosevelt has made a practice of spending the Thanksgiving period at Warm Springs. This year his plans call for staying a bit longer than usual.

Just what the presidential program calls for on the present Georgia visit remains to be seen, but undoubtedly his absence from the capital will necessitate a constant flow of government officials between Washington and the "Little White House" on Pine mountain.

To Confer With Solons.

Among others there probably will be occasion for a series of conferences with members of the Georgia congressional delegation and the official committee in charge of the Atlanta Homecoming Celebration. When these will take place has not yet been indicated. Both Senator Walter F. George and Senator Richard B. Russell Jr. are expected to put in early appearances to pay respects and extend a formal welcome to the state, officiating in this capacity in lieu of Governor Eugene Talmadge, whose bitter attacks on the national administration are not counted to make him an especially welcome guest at Warm Springs.

Thus far, however, Mr. Roosevelt has shown no outward signs of being disturbed or chagrined by the Talmadge attack.

By prearrangement, no formal ceremony attended the arrival of the presidential special train. The chief executive, through Colonel E. W. Starling, head of the White House detail of secret service men, asked that the party be permitted to come unostentatiously. There were no speeches of welcome or parades beyond the orderly gathering of a host of enthusiastic friends and well wishers.

The only gesture approaching such formalities came from Mayor W. G. Harry, of Warm Springs, and a contingent of the Warm Springs Women's Club, which presented the President with a huge bunch of flowers, yellow chrysanthemums sent for the occasion by the mayor.

Members of the committee along with the mayor were S. P. Killian, P. S. Talbot, Dr. Neil Kitchen, Mrs. W. G. Harry, Mrs. Sarah Reid and Mrs. W. D. Colbert.

Similarly an unofficial committee from Greenville was on hand to welcome the President. Headed by Judge Revell and Mayor Jarrell, this consisted of Mrs. Elzie O'Neal, ordinary of Meriwether county; Mrs. Henry Revell, Mrs. J. I. McLaughlin, Miss Daisy Ellis and C. H. Collier, present sheriff of Meriwether county.

Music of a slightly discordant, though none the less vintage note was furnished by the "Franklin D. Roosevelt Scout Troop" band, of Manchester, which brought smiles of appreciation from the President as it blared forth strident strains of "We're in the Army Now," as Mr. Roosevelt embarked.

Hull Defends Canadian Trade Pact; Attacks 'Excessive' Tariff Rates

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Sharply rapping its "lobbyist" and political critics, Secretary Hull said today "no one questions the broad economic benefits" of the new Canadian trade agreement.

His statement, exceptionally stinging for a state department head, "noted a number of protests, confined almost entirely to professional partisan politicians or to some of the specially privileged individuals benefitting from excessive tariff rates."

Hull added: "From the standpoint of both agriculture and industry, the soundness of this trade agreement is clear. A few months of practical operation will demonstrate the value of the agreement in terms of increased trade to the mutual benefit of both countries."

It was the fourth successive day that some members of the administration had issued a defense of the agreement made public last Sunday. Secretary Wallace again today urged farmers "not to heed the alarms instigated by enemies of agriculture."

During the day there was a new attack on the trade treaty. A democrat, former Senator Clarence G. Dill, of Washington, suggested that the lumber industry join with others in challenging constitutionality of the reciprocal tariff law under which the agreement was negotiated.

In his formal statement, Hull referred to his own years in the house and senate in telling of "paid lobbyists" overturning the capitol "in virtually every corridor, passageway and dark corner" during tariff writing.

"Through log-rolling and similar insidious methods they harassed congress and succeeded in securing their own abnormally high rates, especially in the notoriously unsound Hawley-Smoot act of 1930 which, more than any other factor, was responsible for our loss of exports to Canada aggregating $600,000,000.

"The reeking national scandal thus attending passage of this act is well remembered. . . . The many millions of wage earners thrown out of employment from 1929 to 1933 and of farmers thrown into conditions of bankruptcy during the same period, who know their present improved and steadily improving conditions, will I imagine, think twice before giving heed to the small but powerful Hawley-Smoot wrecking crew that dominated the agricultural, business and economic affairs of the nation during the years prior to 1933."

Among critics of the Canadian pact is Herbert Hoover, who as president signed the Hawley-Smoot bill. He referred to the agreement sarcastically as "more of the more abundant life—for Canadians."

Whether intentionally or not Hull's statement constituted a reply to his

ROOSEVELT CLUB MEET HEARS JERE A. WELLS

"I would like to see the day when parents must be registered and qualified voters before their children can enjoy the privilege of public schools," Jere Wells, superintendent of Fulton county schools, said yesterday at a meeting of the Friends of Roosevelt Club, held in the Henry Grady hotel.

Dr. Witherspoon Dodge spoke on "The Reasonableness of the Roosevelt Program."

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Lamar Rutherford Lipscomb, state president of the organization, and Mrs. R. L. Turman, president of the fifth district.

A committee was named to present President Roosevelt with flowers following his speech at Grant field on November 23, comprising Mrs. W. R. Simpson, Mrs. Laurence Stallings and Mrs. T. R. Sanders.

former state department assistant, Raymond Moley, who in an article published in the magazine "Today," deploras what he termed the "furtive character of the negotiations" on the Canadian agreement.

"This administration," Hall said, "in striking contrast with the logging methods of the past, is at present carrying on in the most careful manner a temporary program to trade the temporary emergency by seeking to restore the large volume of trade between this and other countries lost during the years of depression. . . ."

The methods employed in formulating agreements and the conduct of the program are open, careful and thorough. . . . This extremely important program is being conducted in a strictly non-partisan manner and thus far with the support of probably 85 per cent of the press of the nation."

50 JAILED, 7 INJURED IN EGYPTIAN RIOTING

Hope for General Peace Strike Vanishes as Brief Disorder Breaks.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Fifty rioters were arrested and seven native policemen injured in short-lived disorders today on Cairo's anti-British "day of mourning."

Tram windows and street lamps were smashed and some shops damaged by several thousand hooligans and a few students. For three hours paving stones were tossed about freely, but order was restored tonight and the rioters vanished.

Students, who called the "day of mourning" for their comrades slain in last week's anti-British riots, failed, however, to effect a hoped-for general strike.

Egyptian nationalists did not join in the demonstrations as groups. A projected lawyers' strike failed. Many barbers doing business as usual.

ANTI-JEWISH RIOTING SPREADS IN BUDAPEST
BUDAPEST, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Anti-Jewish rioting spread tonight to provincial towns after police, swinging sabres, had broken up a demonstration at the Budapest conservatory of music and had wounded a number of the rioters.

Apparently government officials were worried. Minister of the Interior Nicholas Koma, charged with maintenance of public order, declared: "I am absolutely determined to uphold peace and order in all circumstances. I have given the most strict orders to Budapest and provincial police to resort to the severest measures if necessary."

ARABS DEMONSTRATE AT FUNERAL OF GANGSTER
JERUSALEM, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Riotous Arabs, demonstrating at the funeral for three alleged gangsters slain yesterday in a pitched battle with police, stoned British traffic policemen, smashed windows in a police station and wrecked three police cars at Haifa today.

The rowdies were dispersed by police, wielding truncheons, and quiet was restored later in the day, the Palor Telegraph Agency reported. Moslem shops remained closed.

ANTI-CZECH RIOTERS PLAY HAVOC IN WARSAW

WARSAW, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Anti-Czech demonstrators smashed 11 windows in the Czechoslovakian legation today while authorities sought to curb student excesses directed at Jews.

Minister of Education Chrylinski was quoted by the Jewish Telegraphic Agency as saying he would take immediate measures to restore peace in the schools and universities here and at Lawow.

Police conducted investigations into student homes in an effort to fix responsibility for the anti-Jewish disorders.

ITALY MAY INCLUDE U. S. AS SANCTIONIST
ROME, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The United States is edging ever closer to inclusion in Italy's list of nations to be dealt with by economic reprisals, well-informed sources said tonight.

Official comment on the request in Washington of Secretary Ickes to the oil industry to halt shipments to Italy was withheld, pending details. But spokesmen did not disguise the feeling of the government that suggestions of this sort tend to place the United States in the "sanctionist" category.

ICKES' STATEMENT LAUDED BY LEAGUE
GENEVA, Nov. 21.—(AP)—An announcement that Secretary Ickes had asked the American oil industry to stop shipments to Italy was lauded by League of Nations circles tonight as a helpful step toward realization of an embargo on oil.

The League's committee of 18 on sanctions will meet next week to consider the possibility of fixing a date for an embargo on the exportation to Italy of oil, coal, iron and steel.

ELLSWORTH AND PILOT FIND MOUNTAIN RANGE

south-southwest wind had, while we were climbing, carried us much to the eastward.

We came back more or less parallel to our outward course and landed at 1:30 P. M. (1:30 P. M. E. S. T.) after 10 and a half hours' flying.

Perfect Take Off.
Our take-off this morning was perfect. There was just a breath of wind and the temperature was a zero centigrade. The airplane Polar Star had no difficulty with her load, and at 8:03 G. M. T. (3:03 a. m. E. S. T.) we climbed and headed for the coast of Graham land.

From there, we followed along the Larsen barrier, passing Robertson island at 9:15. We passed Cape Framness at 9:55. So far, there was little pack ice to be seen in the Weddell sea, but southward the pack close to the barrier was thick. It seemed open further to the eastward.

At 11:25 we were opposite Mount Rank and shortly afterward we could see Stefansson strait and the various channels between the Finley islands. That Stefansson strait exists is very obvious, for we could see along it for about 20 miles, but our altitude there was 6,500 feet. It seemed that the islands were closer together and the strait narrower than they are plotted on our chart.

As we crossed the strait, we could see clouds ahead, but above them, high and sea level, were the clouds in peaks. The temperature had dropped to five below zero and the air was terribly bumpy. To our left, Cape Eielson was easily recognizable as a low point straddled with nunataks.

Strong Head Wind.
We had been climbing steadily until we were at 8,000 feet, and we sensed a very strong wind from ahead. We must have crossed over the edge of Hearst land at about 11:50, still climbing, for the range ahead seemed about 2,000 feet above us.

At 12:30 we were at 10,000 feet and the ground was only about 800 feet beneath us, so we climbed and climbed. But there was a strong, down-trending current that made it difficult to gain altitude. We did gain in height at the sacrifice of forward speed until 12,000 feet was reached, and then ahead was the layer of cloud. It spread beneath us and as far as we could see.

I was greatly tempted and almost ventured to fly above the clouds until the eightieth degree of longitude was reached, but to have done so would have been a grave flying risk and would not have given us the information we seek.

So we turned toward the Weddell sea, and, borne by what evidently was a howling gale, soon reached the coast. Then, free of the clouds, we would observe that we were out of the storm area, although the drift indicated a wind of about 30 miles an hour.

Disappointed at our setback, we returned to the Wyatt Earp to try our luck again as soon as the weather permitted.

KONDYLIS TO QUIT POLITICS IN GREECE

ATHENS, Nov. 21.—(AP)—General George Kondylis, president of the council and minister of finance, and the leader in the restoration of King George II, announced tonight he was "strongly" leaving politics.

Sources close to the general said it appeared the announcement, issued on the eve of the embarkation of King George II to Italy for Greece, dispelled beliefs held by many that the new Greek government would be run on the lines of a dictatorship.

REPEAL IN KENTUCKY HELD CONSTITUTIONAL

PARIS, Ky., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Circuit Judge J. C. Jones ruled today that prohibition repeal amendment ratified by Kentucky voters at the November 5 election covered only one subject and hence was constitutionally submitted.

He denied a temporary injunction sought by opponents of repeal but continued in effect the circuit court clerk's restraining order for 20 days to permit an appeal to the appellate court.

Once he muttered, "me crazy." "But after the trial was over," Sheriff R. D. Davis said, "Righetti why he acted that way and he replied 'Me thought they going to kill me.'"

The sheriff has taken Righetti to state prison to serve a 20-year sentence.

PRESIDENT OF BANK FRUSTRATES BANDITS

HORNERSVILLE, Mo., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Two unmasked men failed in an attempt to rob the Merchants & Planters Bank of Hornersville today when F. C. Parks, the president, walked from the vault with a pistol in his hand and opened fire on them.

The robbers fired two shots at him as he disappeared inside the vault. He emerged quickly and shot several times at the robbers who ran from the building and drove rapidly south toward the state line.

facilities as those who live inside the limits of the city.

Fulton county's share of the expense of operation and maintenance of the system remains to be determined.

The special council committee, which executed the agreement with the city, was instructed to obtain an agreement on maintenance and operation contributions.

Early Agreement Seen.
There was every indication that the city will ask this agreement before the work on the metropolitan system has progressed appreciably.

The adjustment was approved by council and the aldermanic board without a dissenting vote.

Resolution Withdrawn.
Alderman Robert Carpenter withdrew a resolution declaring Saturday, November 30, a holiday for city employees after heated opposition had developed.

The aldermanic board held for further consideration and study measure to allow the municipal revenue collector to add 10 new employees to collect on defaulted bills, at 25 per cent commission, and another measure to allow $700 for additional employees in the city controller's office.

A move to pay W. Evans Chambers, former city survey expert, commissions on work he did prior to the time he severed his connections with the city was turned down by the board.

Another measure to relieve the Mutual Home Buildings, Inc., and Sisson Properties of $733.65 representing half the interest on street improvement notes which they owe the city was voted down.

The welfare board yesterday announced that for the next several weeks it will receive for manual relief workers who are afflicted with infirmities. After conferences with Miss Gay B. INVESTIGATORS FAVOR SANTEE-COOPER PLAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—A federal report to a special committee investigating the proposed Santee-Cooper power project in South Carolina was announced today by Secretary Ickes.

Part of the project had been promised by President Roosevelt in a letter to Senator Byrnes, democrat, South Carolina, but it had not been approved by the War Relocation Administration for preliminary surveys.

"You'll have to ask Mr. Hopkins," was Ickes' reply to the question whether the favorable report meant additional money would be available immediately.

INSANITY PLEA FAILS TO HALT 20-YEAR TERM

JACKSON, Tenn., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Before and during his trial for killing Mrs. Profile Ruthford by dynamiting his restaurant building in LaFollette, William Righetti, 60, acted insane.

He would not answer questions on the witness stand.

Once he muttered, "me crazy."

"But after the trial was over," Sheriff R. D. Davis said, "Righetti why he acted that way and he replied 'Me thought they going to kill me.'"

The sheriff has taken Righetti to state prison to serve a 20-year sentence.

said, for fear the situation would prejudice Japan's demands for tonnage parity with the United States and Great Britain in the forthcoming London naval conference.

Chinese circles were alarmed, however, over the possibility that Japan's army would act independently of Tokyo.

Major General Rensuke Isogai, Japanese military attaché, said there was a strong possibility the Nanking government would improve conditions in the north and autonomy agitation would die down.

Premier Wang Ching-wei, who was wounded by an assassin November 1, arrived suddenly today from Nanking. There were rumors he would make another effort to resign, thus complicating the situation with a political crisis.

An autonomy demonstration in Tientsin was announced here, was blocked by Chinese police with the cooperation of Japanese authorities.

Major General Isogai, commenting on the attitude of China's government toward Japan, said it "is still one of double dealing."

"When China ceases telling the League of Nations and other powers that Japan is trying to conquer her and gives them the same assurances she is constantly giving Japan," he said, "then it will be time to decide whether a change in Nanking's attitude has occurred."

SHOWDOWN IN PROSPECT: CABINET SAYS

TOKYO, Nov. 22.—(Friday)—(AP)—Sources close to the government said Japanese militarists and opposing civilian leaders faced a showdown today over the north China situation with the life of the cabinet possibly in the balance.

The issue was expected to be debated at a cabinet session with Koki Hirota, the foreign minister, leading the civilian group, and General Yoshiyuki Kawashima, minister of war, representing the militarists.

Hirota, informed sources said, favors a compromise on the north China issue which would allow the Chinese national government to retain a considerable degree of authority in the five northern provinces.

This plan was recommended by Akira Aizoshi, ambassador to China, who consulted with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, Chinese national government leader, in Nanking yesterday.

(Chinese dispatches said Japanese officers in China were impatient at the delay.)

Action Postponed.
The proposed declaration of autonomy by the five provinces has been "postponed for the time being" in response to the urgent instructions of Chiang Kai-shek, the Rengo (Japanese) newspaper agency reported from Tientsin.

This decision, the agency continued, was "reached at a conference of north Chinese leaders convened in Tientsin by General Sung Cheh-yuan (commander of the Peiping-Tientsin garrison), who arrived hurriedly from Peiping."

The newspaper Asahi said when Ambassador Aizoshi submitted his compromise plan to Tokyo, he said: "This is likely to be my last service to the emperor before he would extend their authority. It appeared to be one of the rare instances when the views of civilian leaders prevailed over plans of the military."

May Not Cross Wall.
It was understood the high army command ruled that Japanese troops in Manchuria would not be permitted to cross the Great Wall unless given an imperial order to do so. An imperial order is issued only in the gravest emergency.

Military officers in Tokyo and north China continued a campaign of publicity designed to justify an eventual armed Japanese intervention in north China.

Interviews emanating from the war office stressed that the Japanese army must oppose forcibly any attempt of the Nanking government to send troops to that area.

Newspapers indicated the army is prepared to send troops into China at the first indication of disorders menacing lives or property of Japanese residents. Such an expedition into Shantung province in 1927-28 resulted in bloody fighting between the Japanese and Chinese nationalists.

GREAT BRITAIN'S HAND IS SEEN IN DISORDER

LONDON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Informed sources hinted tonight that Great Britain has played a strong diplomatic hand both in Tokyo and Nanking to check the move for an autonomous North China.

Just what had been done was not officially clarified, but there were indications British influence had been used both to curb the activities of Major General Kenji Doihara, Japan's "Lawrence of Manchukuo," and to stiffen the resistance of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's military overlord of the Chinese republic.

At the same time, it was believed the British had assured the Japanese have from their interest in normal and pacific economic penetration of north China by Japan.

Optimism over the reported collapse of the separatist movement was expressed in authoritative quarters. These sources felt a pacific settlement of the Sino-Japanese difficulties now was much nearer.

However, officials were keeping a close check on developments, which already have led to consultations with the United States.

Britain it was pointed out, has kept China and Japan steadily informed of the British viewpoint—a policy, it was understood, of maintaining peace and quieting unrest for all nations may peacefully develop mutual, legitimate interests under stabilized conditions.

The advance gifts division reported $35,521, making the total raised by this division $103,946.

Robert F. Maddox, president of the Chest, said the workers meeting Thursday was the largest and most enthusiastic he had ever seen.

"I have never seen a better spirit or a better organization than is in the Chest this year."

"I have been connected with the Chest for many years, and it is my honest opinion that no business or civic enterprise is half as valuable to the city. It is devoted to the development of the character of the people, the open door to a better city in the future."

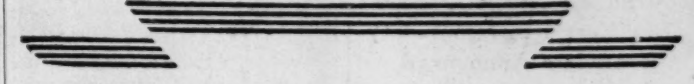

"It is during these campaigns that we get close to the heart of our city, and see not the magnificent skyline, the big business enterprises, the busy traffic and the bright lights, but the great work that goes on quietly

A demonstration of the work of the Camp Fire Girls, one of the 37 agencies of the Community Chest, was put on at the meeting by a group of members, under the direction of Miss Eva Hancock, executive secretary.

The third report meeting, and the final one of the week, will be held at noon today. It is probable that no noon meetings will be held next week, but the drive will be wound up at one or two night meetings. The schedule of meetings will be announced later.

METHODISTS ARE TOLD OF CHURCH ADVANCES

Convention Here Jubilant Over Year's Development; Transfers Announced

By DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.

North Georgia Methodists were jubilant Thursday night as they assembled for the 69th annual session of their conference, because of the fact that the conference and all Georgia Methodism is this year making the most impressive record in history in the matter of financial support for the denominational program. The benevolent offerings were declared to be far over the top, while payments for pastoral support are more nearly 100 per cent than ever known before in the entire state.

Bishop William N. Ainsworth, presiding over the Georgia conference for the second year of his jurisdiction, announced to The Constitution Thursday night that the benevolent budget is overpaid, while pastoral support will approximate 95 to 98 per cent paid in full. He also stated that the South Georgia Conference last week paid its benevolent pledge 103 per cent, and pastors were paid a little more than 90 per cent. The southern Georgia division of Methodism is credited with raising a grand total for all purposes the sum of $886,234, which is an increase of some $51,000 above the year before.

Pledge Overpaid.
The presiding bishop also announced that the entire episcopal district over which he presides is overpaying its

NEW DOLLAR BILLS EXCITE ATLANTA

Wrigley's Inquiring Reporters Hunt Gum Users Everywhere.

By MISS MINT, The Wrigley Representative.

Well! Well! Hello, Atlanta. What a weird reception awaited Mr. Spear and me and our assistants, Mr. Spear and his assistants, and I took different routes, largely in the downtown sections today, now, let me tell you about a few interesting experiences I had in the course of my first day's ventures. You will no doubt see many of your friends' names in my column who were paid a Wrigley Dollar for their opinion of one of the five stated Wrigley Brands, Spearmint, Doublemint, Juicy Fruit, PK or Pepsin.

Believes in Preparedness.
MUR BENSON, 667 Ashby St., S. W., was walking down Peachtree street with three companions when I stopped him by asking "Have you an open package of Wrigley's Gum?" He responded with a big giggle saying, "I have four packages of Wrigley's, which he promptly produced and received one of the crisp, new Dollar bills.

F. S. BROWN, 834 Cascade Ave., was standing in a cigar store talking with friends. Out of five people who I asked about Wrigley's, Mr. Brown was the only one who had a package. He received a new dollar while one of his friends stated "Of the 200,000 people in Atlanta, Mr. Brown had to be one of the men to receive a dollar. He's one of the luckiest men in Atlanta."

MRS. F. H. RAYFIELD, 2788 Peachtree road, had purchased a package of Wrigley's Doublemint for her small son just a few minutes before I approached her. She was rewarded with one of the crisp, new Dollars. She stated "I always buy Doublemint for my little fellow."

MRS. F. E. HANKINSON, 1660 Westwood Ave., found her husband to be a dollar richer yesterday after having returned from downtown. Mr. Hankinson acquired this dollar by giving his opinion of Wrigley's Gum. He stated "Spearmint is my favorite. It leaves such a fresh taste in my mouth."

MRS. G. L. WATERS, 516 Lee St., was approached while shopping yesterday forenoon. After I popped the question Mrs. Waters showed me an open package of Juicy Fruit. The new dollar she possesses was paid her for having said "The natural, fresh fruit flavor and its sweetness makes Juicy Fruit my only choice in chewing gum."

I should like to go on and on telling you about the many pleasant folks I met yesterday, but space does not permit me to tell you all the names of those who were paid Wrigley Dollars. Perhaps you will see the names of some of your friends, neighbors or relatives in the following partial list:

MRS. IRIS DACUS, 429 Sterling St., N. E.; MISS HAZEL KILGORE, 66 Eubanks Ave.; JAMES A. ROBINSON, 488 Atlantic St.; MISS ROSE HOLMES, 1021 Atlanta Ave.; RAYMOND PATTEN, 619 Kilian St.; MISS INEZ HUTCHESON, 124 Vohlgreen St.; L. C. SHEPHERD, 940 Piedmont Ave.; JOHN S. HOLMES, 660 Cascade Ave.; MRS. H. R. SCRIVENER, 740 Penn Ave.; C. W. SPENGLER, Georgia Power Company; SEYMOUR MILNER, 1281 Rumson road; FRANK A. KING, 1206 Peachtree St.; MRS. R. A. Everybody had better be prepared because we're calling on hundreds of people every day on the street, in offices, factories, and even at your home. We'll be all over town every day—you can never tell when you will be stopped. There are no exceptions—we stop the young and old, women and children—everyone is eligible. All you have to do is have one of the five popular Wrigley Brands, Spearmint, Doublemint, Juicy Fruit, PK or Pepsin. When asked "Have you an open package of Wrigley's?" Tell us how you like it and receive a crisp, new dollar bill.—(adv.)

Re-elected Secretary

Rev. George W. Barrett, of Rockmart, re-elected secretary and editor of the conference journal by the North Georgia Methodists for the twelfth time.

benevolent pledge, together with large advances in payments on pastors' salaries.

The success of Methodism's new financial program in Georgia is credited very largely to Bishop Ainsworth's aggressive and untiring leadership throughout the state, and the co-operation of presiding elders, pastors and laymen.

A high note of evangelistic fervor was expressed Thursday evening by the Methodist conference, as Dr. George Stoves, of the Memphis First church, spoke of modern evangelism. An immense audience heard Dr. Stoves' address, which was a masterpiece of modern psychology and a heartily approved his plea for evangelism that kept the church fires of spiritual life constantly burning, as each member undertook to realize his obligation to make personal effort to bring some one to Jesus Christ in confession of faith and surrender.

"The Great Commander."

Dr. Stoves' address was interspersed with humor and wit, much to the delight of his hearers. He will speak twice more during the session. His second address will be Friday night at 7 o'clock, at Wesley Memorial church. The two selected subjects he will use in the following addresses are, "The Reality of the Spiritual," and "The Great Commander and the Great Command."

Prior to the formal organization of the conference session, Bishop Ainsworth presented a group of five musicians from the Memphis First church, who he had invited to attend the conference opening hour. In the group were John Hamilton, Samuel L. Orr, Edward T. Flanders and Harry Hamilton, vocalists, and Crockett Odum, pianist. Two special numbers were rendered by the visiting musicians.

Rev. George W. Barrett, of Rockmart, was chosen secretary of the conference and editor of the journal for the twelfth time. Revs. M. M. Maxwell, C. W. Fruit, William Greenway, W. M. Twiss, H. L. Elmer, F. Dempsey and J. C. Callaway were named as assistant secretaries. Rev. Zachary Hayes Jr., of Madison, was named statistical secretary, who announced as his assistants, Revs. Charles Forester, J. W. Chidsey, W. R. Mills, J. O. Pettis, Ralph Shea, G. M. Spivey, Paul Gummels, W. G. Irvine and Clinton Ward.

Dead Are Honored.

Secretary Barrett called the names of the five conference members who had died during the year. The conference body stood with bowed heads as the following names of deceased were called: Rev. J. W. Bailey, of LaGrange; Rev. W. W. Gaines, of Atlanta; Rev. R. L. Johnson, of Toccoa; Rev. W. H. Speer, of Luthersville; and Rev. J. W. G. Watkins, of College Park. A special memorial period will be held in honor of the deceased during the conference session.

Bishop Ainsworth announced his purpose to deliver a special address of importance at about 11 o'clock this morning. The bishop intimated that the discourse will pertain particularly to the welfare of the church, and urged a large attendance. In the discourse he will no doubt have much to say relative to the assaults being made throughout the world upon the moral foundations and religious faith. Also he will likely express disapproval of the efforts being made to completely overthrow all efforts at prohibition.

Five young ministers were voted admission on trial at the conference session Thursday evening. Rev. Love B. Harrell and Rev. Richard F. Crawley were admitted from the Atlanta district; Rev. John B. Godfrey was admitted from the Decatur-Oxford district; Rev. Charles A. Hope, from the Gainesville district; and Rev. Wallace Z. Watkins from the Rome district. They will be assigned pastoral work, and a four-year course of study.

Transfers Announced.

Rev. B. L. Betts, for three years pastor at Hawkinsville, was announced as a transfer from the South Georgia conference, and Rev. J. Ainsworth was announced as transferring to that body. Rev. H. L. Lawhorn was announced as coming to the Methodist church from the Baptist church, and Rev. Hunter Millsaps as coming from the Methodist Episcopal church. Recognition of orders was given Rev. Charles M. Dunaway and Dr. George Shaw, of Toccoa.

Included in a group of Atlanta ministers introduced to the conference were Dean Raimundo de Ories, of the Protestant Episcopal church; Dr. H. B. Stauffer, of the First Christian church; Dr. Ryland Knight, of the Second-Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church; and Dr. Ellis Fuller, of the First Baptist church.

In taking up the routine questions of conference work, the names of all ten presiding elders were called, their names were read, and they were then called the names of the men of the first-year class. Their characters were passed and advanced to the second-year class as follows: Revs. H. Gunnery, F. E. Moorehead, E. H. Blackburn, W. C. Budd, M. L. Warwick, J. K. Brown, A. D. Whittemore and J. L. Black.

'COLLUSION' CHARGED TO 4 STEEL CONCERNS

Ickes Submits Details to F. D. R.; Denies Responsibility of Nazi Purchase.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—

Renewing an attack on four steel companies which submitted identical bids on materials for two PWA projects, Secretary Ickes charged today that there was "prima facie evidence of collusion" in both instances. Ickes, saying there had been similar experiences with cement manufacturers, disclosed he had submitted data to President Roosevelt on bids for an ocean terminal at Morehead City, N. C., and for the Triborough bridge in New York city—all of which were higher than German offers.

"On cement," he said, at a press conference, "if the bids were identical we let the contract to the plant furthest removed from the project. That way the railroads got revenue."

Asked if the cement contracts were not then subject to reduce freight costs, Ickes replied "I wouldn't be surprised but I can't think of everything."

Charge Already Made.
Ickes already had made his "collusion" charge against the four companies—Jones and Laughlin, Carnegie, Inland, and Kalman, the latter a Bethlehem subsidiary—in the Morehead City incident. Today he said about the Triborough contract:

"I can't believe costs are the same for steel manufacturers and certainly freight rates were different since the bids were f. o. b. New York."

The contract for German steel was cancelled yesterday by the Triborough Bridge Authority and awarded to Jones and Laughlin, who with Carnegie and Inland officials declined to comment tonight on Ickes' charges.

No Change Made.
Ickes saw in the authority's action proof that "German steel doesn't have to be bought under PWA regulations," but reiterated that he had no authority to interfere. No change has been made in the Morehead City award.

Last week, however, protests by both organized labor and the steel industry resulted in Ickes halting all purchases of foreign materials pending determination of possible subsidies for underbidding foreign concerns or collusion by domestic manufacturers. The 15 per cent differential in favor of American materials later was boosted to 25 per cent.

The trade commission is expected to investigate domestic companies, but Ickes said its findings would not affect the Triborough case although "we will be guided as to future bids."

FINLAND PLANS TO PAY WAR DEBT INSTALLMENT

HELSINKI, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The statement of the Bank of Finland showed today this nation would pay its war debt installment of $230,000 to the United States December 15.

CAPITAL GRATIFIED BY FINNISH ACTION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Treasury officials expressed gratification today over Finland's determination to meet her war debt installment when due December 15.

Finland is this government's favorite debtor. She is the only nation that has never failed to meet an installment when due.

The aggregate due the United States on all war debts December 15 is $965,414,000.

C. Owen, C. H. Sewell, W. R. Sisson and H. C. Stone.

Members satisfactorily finishing the second-year work were voted ordination to deacons' orders, and those finishing the fourth-year work were voted to be ordained elders.

Prominent among the items to be considered today will be the reports to be submitted by the ten presiding elders who are in charge of the various districts. Pastors' names also will be called for passage of their characters.

Play To Be Given.

Saturday evening at Wesley Memorial church the conference superannuated ministers will be conference guests, when a play, "As I Wait," written by Mrs. Alva Maxwell, Atlanta, will be given. Leading players in the production are Rev. Carl Adkins, of the Atlanta St. Mark church, and Mrs. G. J. Carmichael. The play is to be a presentation of various events in the life of a minister and will be featured by an old-time pounding.

Word was passed around Thursday that no division of the Atlanta district is contemplated at this time and no intimation was given out as to who would be named as presiding elder of the district to succeed Dr. R. L. Russell, who is completing his fourth year and who will retire from the presiding eldership, according to Methodist law.

The conference session will continue with three sittings daily through next Monday till noon, at which time announcements will be made as to the pastoral appointments for another year, it was reported.

RIDING THE CIRCUIT AT THE METHODIST CONFERENCE

BY THOS. M. ELLIOTT

Dr. George Stoves, pastor of the Memphis First Methodist church, is to be the guest preacher during this session of the North Georgia conference at the invitation of Bishop Ainsworth.

An automobile accident last November prevented his attending the conference a year ago as guest preacher. Dr. Stoves has been in the Methodist itinerancy 37 years, having joined the North Alabama conference in 1898. During his 20 years in that conference he served churches at Anniston, Bessemer and Huntsville, and also was presiding elder for four years.

Transferring to the Tennessee conference in 1918, he was pastor of the Nashville West End Methodist church 15 years. In 1933 he transferred to the Memphis conference, and was stationed at the Memphis First church, where he continues as pastor. His degree of doctor of divinity was conferred by Birmingham Southern College.

During the conference session Dr. Stoves will speak three times. Themes for his discourses will be "The Great Commander and the Great Command," "Modern Evangelism," and "The Reality of the Spiritual."

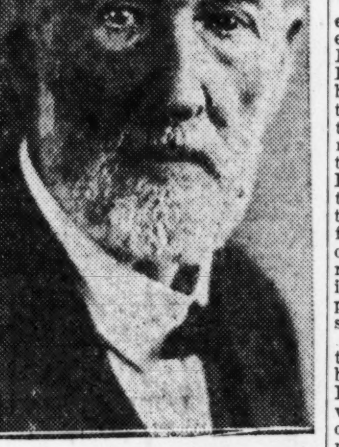

Jabesh Gilead Arrives.
Among the conference attendees none is more noted or welcomed than our well-known delegate-at-large from the rural districts, Jabesh Gilead, who for many years has been coming to the conference from the Little Red Church in the Piney Woods, of the Skyline circuit, where Rev. Jeremiah Goodman is preacher in charge. Uncle Jabesh reached the city early Thursday, so he informed us, and has been as busy as a fellow with seven-year itch and St. Vitus dance ever since arriving, making an effort to get onto the drift of things. Uncle Jabesh says they had a good year on the Skyline circuit, and that they will pay out in full in the rural district, even if they did have to hold candy pullings, quilting bees, and box suppers to raise the cash. He declares himself in favor of the new financial plan, as it puts each church on its responsibility and makes it tote its own share of the burden.

We asked Uncle Jabesh what seemed to be the drift of things at conference, so far as he had learned. "Well, I'll tell you, son," said he, "the thing I hear most talk about is who is to be presiding elder of the Atlanta district. Rumors are flying around here thicker than freckles on the face of a red-headed boy, and some say one thing, while others say something else. It appears to me that the Atlanta district is not the whole thing. Why, the rural district is more important, for 75 per cent of the folks and churches of this conference are in the rural district, and the rural district is the one that furnishes the young preachers, and keeps the city churches supplied with new blood."

"But let me tell you, son," he continued, "I come mighty near to lambasting a young preacher yesterday. I was walking down Peachtree street, when I saw a young preacher ahead of me, who is known for his silliness. Well, dad gum my hide, if that shallowpate didn't stop right there on the sidewalk, take out a little tin box with a looking glass in it and a little puffy contraption, and put powder on his face. You could have knocked me down with a chicken feather."

Veteran Lay Delegate

J. D. Fooshe, of the Augusta district, is the oldest lay delegate attending the North Georgia conference session here. Mr. Fooshe, now 90, has been attending the sessions for 60 years.

YOU KNOW what any society matron would say. "It's appalling. That picture is disgraceful. I see no excuse for such an outrageous breach of good manners." And she's right. There is no excuse—socially.

But your dentist will retort: "Excuse?—The picture needs no excuse! It is a sensible lesson in the proper, profitable exercise of teeth and gums. I hope everyone sees it. More vigorous, energetic chewing like that, and a lot of gum troubles would vanish completely."

Dental science points out this fact—our gums need more work, more activity, more exercise . . . and our modern soft-food diet does not give it to them. And it's these creamy, well-cooked foods that are primarily to blame for sensitive ailing gums. And for the more frequent appearance of "pink tooth brush"—a warning that gums are in an unhealthy condition.

"Pink Tooth Brush" is a first warning
Neglected, that first tinge of "pink" upon your tooth brush may lead to highly unpleasant gum disorders—gingivitis, pyorrhea, and Vincent's disease. And that is why dental science encourages you—while there is still plenty of time—to change to Ipana and massage. For Ipana is especially designed to benefit the gums as well as give you clean and brilliant teeth.

Rub a little extra Ipana into your gums every time you brush your teeth. You'll feel those lazy gums quicken. You'll feel new circulation waken the tissues and soon you'll feel a new healthy firmness in the gum walls themselves. So improve your good looks. Heighten the charm of your smile. The National Weekly Poll of Public Opinion

Presidents customarily drop in popular favor after mid-term. Nation-wide polls conducted by the American Institute of Public Opinion every month since February, 1934, show that President Roosevelt is no exception in this regard. The important question in connection with Mr. Roosevelt is whether he is NOW gaining or losing in popular favor. In October he received 53% of the votes cast for candidates of the two major parties, a sharp increase from the 50.5% he polled in September.

What proportion of the votes is he getting in November? Is his majority still increasing?

The Constitution next Sunday will give an accurate, impartial, authoritative answer as to the President's present standing with the voters when it reports the results of the latest National Weekly Poll of the American Institute of Public Opinion. Ballots in this poll came from every state in proportion to its electoral vote. Correct proportions were maintained among voters in every class in the country, from the highest to the lowest . . . from the most liberal to the most conservative. Statisticians have calculated that a poll conducted on these scientific lines will be accurate within a percent or two.

NEW DEAL CONTESTED UPON VARIED FRONTS

Mellon Mine Contests Coal
Act; Utilities To Spurn
SEC Demands.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(UP)—Business and the New Deal clashed on many fronts tonight leaving in doubt the future of three administration recovery and reform projects which affect millions of persons and billions of dollars—the AAA, the utility act, and the Guffey coal law.

Nine distinguished jurists sitting in the United States supreme court tonight will decide whether the constitutionality of the AAA, the utility act, and the Guffey coal law will be upheld or whether they will be struck down.

Meanwhile, more than $150,000,000 in processing taxes—the life blood of AAA—lie bogged in a morass of court injunctions. It presents a serious problem for the treasury. President Roosevelt has warned that new taxes would be necessary if the processing levies are held unconstitutional.

Into the supreme court today marched government attorneys who appealed to the elderly jurists to compel processors of farm products to comply with the law to "pay first and litigate later." They noted that the law specifically states that tax collections may not be altered by the courts. They recalled that the supreme court has recognized that prompt collection of the revenue is one of the most important functions of the government, "because taxes are the sole means by which governments can maintain their existence."

In three other courts, the $150,000,000 utility industry roared its challenge of the holding company act. The companies have until December 1, only 10 more days, in which to register under the law or face drastic penalties. These penalties range from a fine of $200,000 to refusal by the government to permit nonregistered companies the use of the mails or other instruments of interstate commerce.

On still another front, the Pittsburgh Coal Company, the country's largest independent bituminous coal producer, and a Mellon interest, today appealed for an injunction to halt enforcement of the Guffey act. The law seeks to establish a "little NRA" for the bituminous industry. One court already has held it unconstitutional.

There were clear indications tonight that a preponderant part of the power industry would not register under the utility act.

Only one small company has filed thus far. The $800,000,000 United Gas Improvement Company, one of the largest utility holding companies in the nation, has refused to register and yesterday challenged constitutionality of the act in federal court at Philadelphia.

The Delaware Electric Power Company took similar action in the district court at Wilmington, Del., today as did the Philadelphia Electric Company in the Philadelphia district court. The Consolidated Gas Company, of New York, and all subsidiary holding companies will not register, the commission was advised.

The holding company act already has been declared unconstitutional by Federal Judge William C. Coleman in Baltimore, who held the act "arbitrary and capricious." The decision was made in a test suit brought by the American States Public Service Company, in process of reorganization.

Today, counsel for Burco, Inc., representing investors in the company, filed notice with Coleman that they would carry his decision to the appellate court. The appeal will be argued during the January term when the court is at Charlotte, N. C.

AAA Action Monday? From the supreme court Monday may come some hint of its views on the legality of the processing taxes. It has indicated a decision may be forthcoming then in a case brought by Louisiana rice millers involving the right to sue to restrain collection of processing levies.

The ruling will affect indirectly more than 1,000 suits brought to restrain collection of other processing taxes by the AAA. It was in the rice case that the government filed its brief today asking for relief.

Shortly before the document was filed, two renowned lawyers—John W. Davis, democratic presidential candidate in 1924, and former Governor Nathan Miller, of New York—sought to intervene as friends of the court in the famous Hoosac Mills case which is to be argued on December 9.

They listed as their clients the Hy-Grade Food Products Corporation, the National Biscuit Company and P. Lorillard Company, all of whom, it was stated, are processors of basic agricultural commodities and have challenged the AAA in the courts.

Davis and Miller charged in a brief that the AAA is a "complete counter-part of the NRA recently found beyond the constitutional power of congress. The act is unconstitutional, they argued, because it represents an attempt by the government to control production.

"Debutante's Feet" Is Bothersome to Deb

Take it from Miss Frances Austin, the debutante's life is not altogether rosy. For instance, one of the things that bothers her is "debutante's feet," caused from standing for hours in receiving lines. "But nothing can be done about it; we simply have to stand it," she said. Atlanta debutantes want it understood they do not come out with a definite object of "getting a man" but mainly wish six months of a "perfectly good time." Associated Press photo.

New Stratosphere Balloon Record Officially Verified by Air Body

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(AP)—A stratosphere height record of slightly less than 14 miles was credited officially today to Captains Albert W. Stevens and Orvil A. Anderson for their Armistice Day flight. The National Aeronautics Association certified the mark of 72,395 feet above sea level attained by the huge balloon of the National Geographic Society-army air corps expedition. This figure, determined by calibration of the balloon's meteorograph by Bureau of Standards Scientists, exceeded by 11,138 feet the former official record set November 20, 1933, by Lieutenant Commander T. G. W. Settle and Major Chester Fordney, and also broke the unofficial record of 72,200 feet set by three Russian balloons January 3, 1934. The Russian record never was allowed because of the crash of the balloon. Immediate application for verification of the new record will be made to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale at Paris, France, officials said.

TRIAL OF 3 ASSASSINS INDEFINITELY DELAYED

AIX-EN-PROVENCE, France, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The trial of three Croats charged with complicity in the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia was indefinitely postponed today.

Court was suspended Tuesday when their counsel, Georges Desbons, Paris attorney engaged by Croats of Pittsburgh, Pa., was disbarred for crying "the justice doesn't want to hear the truth."

The court appointed a local attorney, Jacques Saudinot, to represent the defendants—Ivan Rajitch, Zvonimir Pospesich and Mio Kraj—but they refused his services and went on a hunger strike to force the restoration of Desbons.

Mrs. Walter D. Lamar, of HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 21.—(AP)—All the brilliance of the antebellum ball in the deep south glittered here tonight as delegates to the forty-second national convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy brought to a climax in a historical pageant their annual session.

Excitement of a busy day which saw the unanimous election of Mrs. John L. Woodbury, Louisville, Ky., as twenty-second president general of the society, reached its peak as the crinolines-garbed daughters revived old customs.

Election of Mrs. Woodbury this morning followed the withdrawal of the candidacy of Mrs. W. W. Turner, Webster, Texas, only other candidate for the position now held by Mrs. W. E. Massey, Hot Springs.

Other officers named were Mrs. Charles E. Bolling, Richmond, Va., first vice president general; Mrs. B. A. Mourning, Little Rock, Ark., third vice president general; Mrs. W. H. Eckhardt, New Orleans, La., recording secretary general; Mrs. T. F. Gorman, Bartlesville, Okla., corresponding secretary general; Mrs. L. B. Newell, Charlotte, N. C., custodian of the crosses.

Continuing in office were Mrs. John C. Abernathy, Chicago, second vice president general; Mrs. John W. Goodwin, Allendale, N. J., treasurer general; Mrs. Walter D. Lamar, Macon, Ga., historian general, and Mrs. Morris Harris, Baltimore, Md., registrar general.

The 1936 convention was awarded Dallas, Texas, without contest. Routine reports were read by Mrs. Abernathy, Mrs. A. C. Ford, Clifton Forge, Va.; Mrs. Newell, Mrs. Nora Reavers, Little Rock, Ark.; Mrs. L. R. Schuyler, New York city; Mrs. Anne H. Norris, Tampa, Fla.; Mrs. W. S. Coleman, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. F. D. Harrington, Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. Gustave Martins, Montgomery, Ala.; Miss Claudia Hager, Wytheville, Va.; and Mrs. John F. Weinmann, Little Rock, Ark.

BANK OF FRANCE HIKES DISCOUNT RATE

PARIS, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The Bank of France again tried today to check the flow of gold to New York by raising its discount rate.

In the second advance within a week, the rate was changed from 4 to 5 per cent.

Approximately 2,500,000,000 francs of gold have been shipped to New York since October 17, financial quarters stated.

Withdrawals during the week ended November 15 were reported by the bank at $83,000,000 francs.

AWAITS A CLAIMANT

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(AP)—An envelope containing $4,350 awaits a claimant at a police station, thanks to the honesty of Mrs. Anne O'Shea. Mrs. O'Shea was on her way to church in Jackson Heights yesterday and saw the rain-soaked envelope lying in a gutter. She picked it up. Inside were 87 damp $50 bills, a veritable fortune to Mrs. O'Shea, of only recently she incurred a debt of more than $2,000 for an operation.

Mrs. O'Shea, however, took the money to her husband, Patrick, a policeman, and together they went to a police station to report the find. The money is still unclaimed.

100,000 TROOPS GIVEN FURLONGS BY IL DUCE

Tenth of Home Army Given
Leave in Move to Combat Economic Siege.

ROME, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini, in a new move to oppose economic sanctions against Italy, ordered three-month furloughs tonight for about 100,000 of Italy's 1,000,000 home troops.

The temporary reduction, it was stated officially, has no international significance. The government said the action was due to increasing farm and industrial production, because of the economic siege of Italy, and the desire to send men home to the families that need them.

The soldiers will be told to be ready to return on an instant's notice. Farmers will be sent home first, then men who are believed most needed by their families, and then those who have records of good conduct during at least eight months of service.

Call to Colors. Many others have been virtually instructed to be ready for a call to the colors. They are from the classes of 1901 to 1914, inclusive, who were exempted for illness or disability. They have been ordered to submit to re-examination, and those found fit must then be listed in their classes and respond to any calls for men of those years.

Selassie Returns From Battle Front Inspired by Loyalty of Warriors

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie returned unexpectedly from his first inspection at the battlefield today. An official communique said his airplane may have been chased by two Italian planes.

On his two-day trip he made two visits to the front. He is believed to have issued definite battle orders at Jijiga, back of the southern front. Shortly after the ruler left the area around the important towns of Harar and Direddawa two fascist airplanes flew over those points.

"The fact that the planes did not drop bombs indicates they were reconnoitering or pursuing the Ethiopian planes," said the communique.

While Haile Selassie was inspecting the southern and eastern front, the government said, two Italian tanks were captured and their 12 Italian occupants immediately beheaded by the Ethiopians.

"I have kept my word by going to the front among my soldiers," Haile Selassie said.

He would have 1,200,000 men under arms in Italy and abroad. But informed observers, placing the home army at 1,000,000, have expressed the opinion the total force is much higher than Mussolini's figure.

The premier, directing Italy's anti-sanctions program, found time to talk with King George, of Greece, who was in Rome on his way to Athens to reascend his throne. Earlier George had received the collar of the order of Annunziata from King Victor Emmanuel, thus becoming an honorary cousin of the Italian monarch.

FAT MAN'S SOCIETY INCREASED 700 POUNDS

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Harry Bagan's "fat man's club" was some 700 pounds heavier today with the addition of three new members.

Bagan, 265-pound president of the club which has headquarters at Cambridge, Mass., said the new recruits are only striplings by comparison with the "prime member" of the organization.

The biggest member, Bagan said, tips the scales at 528 pounds. Bagan failed to say who this human giant is.

RAIL LEAGUE LAUNCHES FIGHT ON U. S. CONTROL

Speakers Will Be Sent All Over Nation to Mould Public Opinion.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—(AP)—The National Industrial Traffic League, an organization of big shippers claiming to control 65 per cent of the nation's freight, launched a fight against government ownership of railroads today.

Delegates representing 700 members—traffic managers, industrial and business concerns and chambers of commerce—voted unanimously at the annual convention to set up a "national committee for the prevention of government ownership of railroads."

It was planned to obtain representation of all sections of the nation on the national committee. Its main aim will be to turn public opinion against federal control of the rail lines. To accomplish this end, data will be gathered and furnished to speakers, who will be sent to address luncheons and gatherings of business and industrial leaders.

The biggest member, Bagan said, tips the scales at 528 pounds. Bagan failed to say who this human giant is.

Local Junior League To Present Marionettes at National Meeting

By Sally Forth.

THE Atlanta Junior League is as outstanding nationally as it is locally. You will agree with Sally when you hear of the signal honor that has come to the League, via a letter to the local president, Mrs. Henry Grady Jr.

According to the letter just received, the Atlanta League has been chosen as one of three in America to present a marionette play before the Children's Theater conference of the League to be held in Baltimore, Md., in February. You can readily understand why this distinction has come to Atlanta, for Junior League marionettes are in a class by themselves, as far as such productions are concerned. In fact, the attention of the entire organization has been focused upon the Atlanta League's success in this field for a number of years. The members have not only written and staged the clever little plays, but they have built their own scenery, fashioned the cunning dolls, and manipulated the intricate strings by which they perform.

The conference includes both the marionette groups and the children's theater groups of the League, and local members who have worked so faithfully to present the very creditable productions in both branches must feel highly pleased at this national recognition of their success. According to Mrs. Grady, the Atlanta League hopes to be able to accept the gratifying invitation.

The dates of the conference are from February 10 to 13. On Wednesday, February 12, the marionette bazaar will be held and will be featured by demonstrations by the three leagues chosen. Mrs. Robert Peggam IV is marionette chairman for the Atlanta League, and it will be up to her to select the play to be produced before the national organization.

NO LOVELIER bride ever tread the aisle at All Saints Episcopal church than Jean Lucas Storey. Her wedding gown of white satin and tulle, fashioned along classic lines, enhanced the bride's queenly and dignified appearance. Sally, impressed by the white satin prayer book carried by Jean, instead of the proverbial bride's bouquet. The book holds sentiment for its owner, because it was given her when she was christened and is one of her most cherished possessions. Sally was also impressed with the lovely picture made by the bride's mother and her handsome sons, John and Arthur Lucas Jr., when they descended the aisle. Escorting their beautiful mother to her seat on the front pew, the brothers returned to the back of the church to take their places as groomsmen in their sister's bridal party.

Elegance describes every detail marking the Lucas-Storey wedding as well as the reception which followed at the Driving Club. There, too, sentiment marked the cutting of the exquisitely embossed wedding cake, made in the design of a wedding ring. Jean cut her wedding cake with the same handsome silver knife which her great-grandmother on her paternal side used at her wedding many years ago in South Carolina. Peggy Penick, of Montclair, N. J., one of Jean's bridesmaids, cut the office of cake holding the silver heart, denoting that Peggy will be the next bride. Peggy's charm and beauty led Sally to believe that this tell-tale symbol did not falsify as did the thimble, which was cut by Connie Adams Lewis, who was saved from an old maid's fate when she became the bride some time ago of Dr. Albert Lewis.

WHEN Florence Hancock, or "Little Sis," as she is better known, left Miami, Fla., the other day to return to her home in Cartersville, she was quite excited, for she was going by plane for the first time, and she was really quite frightened. It was quite a large plane, and especially so in comparison to "Little Sis," who is a diminutive blond and scarcely "bigger than a minute."

But the plane took off in excellent form, and "Sis" took off with it to have the thrill of a lifetime. She was so entranced with the plane and everything in it that even the "tall, dark and handsome" pilot was intrigued with her enthusiasm. So he invited her to come and sit in the control room, gave her a pair of ear phones, and let her listen to the radio calls from plane to plane.

To add to immense enjoyment of "Sis," several of the planes they had talked to approached their plane, and she was able to get a peep at their radio friends. She had breakfast in Miami, luncheon in Atlanta, dinner in Cartersville, and, as she truthfully admits, the time of her life.

Mrs. Robert Sanford Feted at Breakfast.

Mrs. Robert Sanford was honored guest at a breakfast given recently by Mrs. Gordon Brock and Mrs. M. V. Barnett. Mrs. Sanford, a recent bride, is a member of the faculty of Center Hill school.

Sanford, Clark Ray, P. W. Cook, Dan Newbern, Belle Wood, Misses Mary Ezzard, Marguerite Garner, Lydia Guice, Ruby Lucas, Marie Long, Mary C. Russell, Kathleen Mitchell, Ida Lee Brown.

Fidelis Study Club.

The Fidelis Study Club met Monday at Druid Hills Baptist church. At the December meeting, the member presenting the most interesting booklet on the meetings of the year will receive a subscription to Parents Magazine. Mrs. Roger Lively gave a practical discussion of the various home problems in rearing a family. So often, she stated, in homes where there are children, the living room is fitted to accommodate only the grownups, and the child's reactions to such surroundings are not such that help to build the sturdiest little bodies and minds. She told of the necessity of making homes beautiful with mental and spiritual stimuli instead of sets of furniture and rules, without heart interest. Miss Grace Chapman's group acted as hostess.

Miss Jane Justiss, of Granville, a junior at Judson College, Marion, Ala., was recently elected the best athlete on the campus. Miss Justiss is one of the most popular students in the college and is active in extra-curricular circles.

Things That Make Women More Beautiful

(Posed by Betty Furness.)

Lotion for Sensitive Skins That Helps; a Substitute for Skin Tonics

By MIGNON. There seems to be a pretty general demand for a skin tonic. There must be because the market is flooded with them. I have found one that to me has only one aggravation. The bottle is as black as night and you have to pour some out to see what the lotion looks like. Curious people like to see what they are using, but in this instance you have to put your faith in the manufacturer, who, I must say, is a first-rate one, and in the people who have tried it out for you.

The same woman manufactures a skin tonic, a great many people prefer this lotion in a black bottle. For one thing, it is slightly medicated, said to be healing—and I find that it is—and seems to agree with the skin of delicate skins. I have tried it on several of them.

The way to use the lotion is this: after you have given yourself a short facial of your favorite kind, take a small pad of cotton and wet it with the lotion. Flap it against your face and then place a tissue over your face to absorb any excess lotion that remains. With this lotion I prefer to rub the cotton gently over my face, but I insist that to rub the face violently is always a mistake for the woman past 30. Nature will break down the tissues fast enough without your giving her any help.

I find the lotion clearing—and by this I mean soothing and slightly healing. After you use it, apply some sort of a foundation cream before putting on your makeup. There are many women who swear by this, especially in the winter time when they want delicate skins.

Here Are Cranberries Sauted, Jellied or Chopped

By FLORENCE LA GANKE.

The cranberry season was at hand. These well flavored berries with their rich red color add accent and interest to almost any meal. And the fact they are so easy to prepare is much in their favor.

Nancy asked Joan whether she did not want to take over the cranberry preparation for the Thanksgiving dinner. "How shall I fix them, Aunt Nancy?" Nancy suggested she get out a cook book and look up some recipes. She told her there were three ways that would be good for the dinner. The first called for a strained, smooth cranberry jelly, the second for an unstrained cranberry sauce and the third was for a cranberry relish using chopped apple, raw cranberries chopped and some chopped orange and peel.

In making the jelly Nancy told her to make the dish according to this proportion, for four cups or one pound of picked over berries add one cup water. Let the fruit cook until the berries pop. Put through a sieve and after the sieved mixture is back on the fire and boiling add two cups sugar. Then cook for about three minutes and pour into the serving dish.

For sauce use two cups water and two cups sugar for every four cups fruit. Cook all three together until the berries have lost their shape. Cool and serve.

The relish called for this recipe. Wash and pick over one pound of cranberries. In picking them use a sharp knife to remove the stems and soft ones. Wash two oranges, peel and cut out the white connecting membranes of one orange. Put pulp of two oranges and the berries through the meat chopper. Add one and one-half cups sugar and mix well.

Let stand for a few hours and then serve. If desired for use within a few hours one cored apple may be put through the chopper also. The cranberry and orange mixture will keep for weeks in a covered container in a cool place but the apple mixture must be used up soon after making.

Garden Club of Georgia Chairman Offers Many November Suggestions

By Mrs. Ed Dorsey, of Athens. Publicity Chairman for Garden Club of Georgia.

With the garden spirit and energy of a young race, with the benefit of a widely varying climate and soil and numerous other advantages, America is in line for a brilliant future in the horticultural field. The possibilities are practically limitless and the result of combined labors of horticulturists has culminated in national, state and local garden clubs.

Mrs. P. J. A. Berckmans Jr., garden center chairman for Garden Club of Georgia, offers seasonal suggestions for November, in which she says "Plant spring blooming plants such as columbine, peonies, pansies and English daisies. Overhaul cold frame and transplant therein the plants that are to be wintered there. Take up and pot chrysanthemums for blooming in house. Dig and dry dahlias and gladioli. Divide and reset German iris, if not already done. Most rock plants do better if planted early. Finish bulb planting this month, using bone meal as fertilizer, and fertilize your lawn.

"Remove and burn all annuals and trash after frost. Spade and plow all areas in garden which will not be used in winter. Repeat two or three times. This checks hibernating insects. Cut back frozen tops of perennials. Save hardwood ashes. Keep covered. Prepare potting soil for spring use. Begin planting hardy trees, shrubs, roses, evergreens, etc., as soon as matured. Keep freshly planted coniferous evergreens regularly watered for several weeks. If not already planted, sow sweet peas."

South Carolina held its annual garden club meeting on November 21 in Columbia with Mrs. A. B. Pomeroy, state president of Garden Club of South Carolina, presiding. Mrs. T. H. McHattom, of Athens, state president of Garden Club of Georgia, attended the convocation.

Athens Garden Club Members Plant Iris Bulbs on City Hall Property

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 21.—City beautification programs were launched almost simultaneously today in Atlanta and Athens. While Mayor Key and other prominent Georgians took part in ceremonies accompanying the planting of the first dogwood on Roosevelt highway, in pursuance of Atlanta's plan to become the "Dogwood City" of the nation, a committee of Garden Club members here was planning iris on the city hall property, in keeping with plans to make Athens the "Iris City" of the land.

Under the enthusiastic chairmanship of Mrs. Mackey Steiner, hundreds of iris were planted on the city hall lawn with a background of beautiful shrubbery. Next spring, when the iris begins to bloom, visitors to Athens will be charmed by the beauty and color of the city hall surroundings, in the center of the city, as well as impressed by the famous cannon with the double barrels, celebrated throughout the country as the only one of its kind in the world.

Not satisfied with having planted iris by the hundreds on the city hall lawn, the Garden Club committee met this morning to adopt plans for a city-wide planting program, which includes the community center grounds, where thousands of the bulbs will be put into the ground, if possible, before the winter season really gets going.

Plans call for iris planting at each of the entrances to the city, located on interstate highways, and at filling stations. During the blooming season a Garden Club committee will place iris in the hotels of Athens. Athens already has many beautiful private iris gardens, and the city-wide planting program was adopted by the Ladies' Garden Club at a meeting at Redwine residence.

Mrs. John W. Jenkins is chairman of the committee to place iris in the hotels during the blooming season and the committee in charge of city-wide planting includes Mrs. Steiner, chairman; Mrs. Ed Dorsey, Mrs. B. M. Grier, Mrs. G. D. Mackworth, Mrs. Henry Reid, Mrs. Dan Magill, Mrs. Oley Vinson, Mrs. Robert Waterson, Mrs. C. J. Decker, Mrs. Roby Redwine.

At the planting on the city hall lawn Mayor A. G. Dudley and Engineer J. G. Beacham showed almost as much enthusiasm as the Garden Club committee, which was furnished with the following Athens women: Mesdames R. L. Patterson, O. H. Arnold, C. A. VerNooy, M. P. Miss Joyce Smith Is Presented To Society at Brilliant Dance was the dance at which Miss Joyce Smith, one of the season's most popular debutantes, and vice president of the current Debutante Club, was formally presented to society by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. C. Smith, at the Biltmore hotel. The ballroom was attractively decorated with palms and chrysanthemums and the stately white columns outlining the center of the room were entwined with smilax.

The buffet tables, from which supper was served, were graced by Italian china bowls filled with roses, valley lilies and pastel shaded chrysanthemums. Silver candelabra holding gleaming white tapers were arranged at either end of each table. The coffee tables were graced by handsome silver services and adorned in the center by silver baskets of talisman roses.

The honor guest and her parents received at the left entrance to the ballroom, standing before a bank of palms and countless baskets of flowers sent the popular young debutante by her many friends and admirers. Mrs. Smith wore a handsome gown of black headed net fashioned over black satin. The bodice of the gown was trimmed at the front neckline by rhinestone clips and she wore a shoulder bouquet of deep purple orchids.

Miss Smith's gown was fashioned of ivory brocade satin and was particularly becoming to the debutante's exquisite blond beauty. The full graceful skirt reached to a train length in the back and the close-fitting bodice was trimmed by revers made of the satin. She wore a shoulder spray of delicately tinted orchids and carried a bouquet of orchids, yellow roses and valley lilies, a gift from members of her mother's bridge club.

Assisting in entertaining were Miss Elinor Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. Carroll Smith and Mesdames Canby L. Wilson, of Anderson, Ind., and B. Clark Carter, of Harrisburg, Pa. Miss Elinor Smith wore an attractive model of pastel green satin and her shoulder cluster was formed of yellow orchids. Mrs. Carroll Smith was gowned in violet colored velvet which was patterned along princess lines. Mrs. Wilson was attired in aquamarine colored moire silk, and Mrs. Carter was gowned in white satin trimmed with rhinestones.

The pupils of the Ivy Road Private school were entertained by Mrs. L. S. Gilbert Friday afternoon at her home on Northside drive.

MARIST, TYPISTS MEET TONIGHT IN TITLE GAME

Teams Will Settle N. G. I. C. Race at Ball Park; Glynn Faces Decatur.

By Roy White.

Two choice games will be offered Atlanta's prep football fans today, when Decatur plays Glynn Academy, of Brunswick, at 2:45 o'clock at Decatur, and Commercial High and Marist College battle for the North Georgia Interscholastic conference title at 8 o'clock tonight at Ponce de Leon park.

Both games will be well worth the while, with little to choose between them. Glynn Academy has one of the strongest teams in southeast Georgia and one which lost by a point to Richmond Academy, the second-place team in the G. I. A. A. race. Decatur has been coming along fast in recent games and will have its full strength in the ball game this afternoon.

SECOND MEETING.

The Commercial-Marist game will be the second big scrap in two weeks with a title at stake. They played a scoreless tie early in the season and since both have come along unbeaten in the N. G. I. C. ranks and have the best title claims. Tonight's game will be for the championship.

Both Commercial and Marist will have their full strength in the game tonight and no attempt will be made to select a favorite. Their records are proof enough of their title claims and both finished at the top of the N. G. I. C. ladder last year along with Decatur.

RIVAL RECORDS.

Marist defeated Tech High, 2 to 0; won from Griffin, 26 to 0; beat Gainesville, 19 to 0; beat Rome, 19 to 0, and defeated Bowdon College, 80 to 0. G. M. A. is the only team with a decision over Marist.

Commercial beat Tech High, 12 to 6, after losing to Boys' High, 22 to 0; tied G. M. A., 0 to 0; beat Decatur, 13 to 6; lost to Lanier High, 14 to 0; beat Russell, 20 to 0, and last week beat Monroe, 14 to 13.

Marist will line up with O'Kelley and Pope, ends; George and Reid, tackles; Knight and Simonton, guards; Stark, center, and Epperson, Slater, Pitt and Thompson, in the backfield. The backfield combination has started every game intact.

Commercial will have Wray and Carlton, ends; Wallace and McWilliams, tackles; Davis and Jones, guards; Bailey, center, and Martin and Red Loyd, Reynolds and Sellers in the backfield.

G. M. A. To Play

In Macon Tonight.

G. M. A.'s Red Wave will battle Lanier High's Poets at 7 o'clock tonight at Macon in a game to decide second place in the Georgia Interscholastic Athletic Association race. Tonight's game was originally scheduled for Saturday but after several conferences between the two schools' coaches it was decided to play it tonight.

BREAK O'DAY!

By Ralph McKee

DAYTON, Ohio, Nov. 21.—There always is a wallop in meeting and talking with Kenesaw M. Landis.

His tumble of gray hair, like the caricaturist's idea of a violin player's mane; his sharply chiseled face, and his vivid personality make him a distinguished figure. And he belongs peculiarly to us down in our town of Atlanta. He occupies a suite here at the national baseball convention. And he is a difficult person to see.

Today Leslie O'Connor, his secretary, slipped me in with the Southern association committee, which was reporting the Texas and Southern leagues had voted to lift their rating from Class A to Class A-One.

Leslie O'Connor was reading. He was reading a Russian book printed in French. I was sorry all the pedants who like baseball people rough of neck could not have been along. The novel was one by Dostoyesky. It was a collection of the Russian's letters to his wife.

And O'Connor was chuckling. It seems Dostoyesky was a great gambler and was never able to give his wife enough money to finance the house. Finally the door flew open.

"How's my mountain?" said the judge, thrusting out his hand.

I told him it was still there. And also told him the story of Dan McGugin's father, the father of the Vanderbilt athletic director, and one of the greatest coaches the game of football produced, was in Sherman's army in its mad charge against Kennesaw Mountain.

And it was while camped at the base of the mountain that Judge Landis' father received a wire saying a son had been born and asking a suggestion for a name. The story says he thumped his knee and shouted, "We'll name him Kenesaw Mountain."

And they did. Judge Landis considers it his mountain, and it seems to me he has a right to it.

THE FOUR GREATEST.

Sat at lunch with Eddie Collins, general manager of Tom Yawkey's Red Sox, and we talked of the greatest ball players. Eddie Collins is the greatest second baseman who ever lived. There doesn't seem to be much argument about that, so we didn't go into that.

But we did the others. He thinks Ty Cobb, the Georgia Peach, was the greatest ball player that ever played the game.

"I don't think there is any argument about that," said Collins.

"He could do everything better than anyone else. Man, he was a ball player! I saw Man O' War run once and there wasn't half the thrill in that than there was in seeing Ty Cobb go down to second base."

So, that's the greatest outfielder, according to Collins.

He thinks Jimmy Collins and Buck Weaver, the latter of Black Sox ill repute, the best third basemen he ever saw, with Collins having an edge.

And he considers Roger Peckinpaugh the best shortstop he saw play.

When we got to first base, I grinned before I asked the question.

"Frank Chance," said Collins.

There was human poetry, was Frank Chance. There isn't any argument about him.

As for catchers, Collins nominates Ray Schalk and Mike Cochrane.

TINKER TO EVERS TO CHANCE.

It was a coincidence that after talking with Collins, the first man I saw in the crowded lobby was Johnny Evers, the old Trojan, and a member of the great double-play combination of Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance.

"Eddie is right about Chance," he said. "I might have an argument on some of the others, but not on Chance. There was the greatest first baseman baseball ever saw."

Evers is scouting. He is a figure himself. And you might ask Johnny Evers if dissension among players hurts a ball club. He and Joe Tinker hated one another all the while they played and they fought several times a week.

And yet they played great baseball.

One of the better stories of the old game is the one of Frank Chance getting Evers and Tinker together years after they quit playing.

THE RETURN OF SALLY.

There is a lot of sentiment attached to the return of the old Sally league to baseball. It was one of the better Class B leagues, the depression stopped it.

Today it was reorganized with six clubs, all members of the original Sally league. There is Columbia, Augusta, Macon, Savannah, Jacksonville and Columbus. Four of the cities are Georgia cities.

It was the old Sally which produced some of the great baseball figures. And the story of the old days when the late Johnny Dobbs was managing and when Savannah and Augusta were great rivals is a story all by itself.

Dr. E. P. Wilder, of Augusta, will be president of the new league. He is a great bird dog man and a judge of field trials, and as such he has a national reputation.

So there is no need to wonder what's to become of Sally. Sally is back and back to stay. They plan to keep only the six clubs and not try for an eight-club circuit. The present one is compact and will be run on sane lines.

The minor leagues, many of them, at any rate, disappeared because of high finances entered into during the good old daffy days before October of 1929.

BOOST FOR RICHARDS.

Baseball people all join in saying the Crackers made a smart deal when they got Catcher Paul Richards from the Athletics. It is too bad Joe Palmisano cannot be retained, but it is known he prefers to play with the Barons, to whom he was sold this morning.

Richards, who started with Macon in 1930 and later played with Hartford, Minneapolis, the Giants and the Athletics, is a real hitter and thrower.

He is just 26 years old and is good for several years in Atlanta. He is delighted with the trade and is all set with his contract.

THE OLD-STYLE BAT.

Your correspondent went down again today to the Hillerich Bat Company's suite and hefted the old bats used by Willie Keeler, Hans Wagner and other great stars of other years.

The old-style bat, such as Keeler and Wagner used, was shorter than the modern bat and lighter of weight. Harry Davis was the first player to use one with a thin handle, more length and weight.

The old-style bats with their thick handles, shorter

BOTH ELEVENS REST CHANCES ON PASS ATTACK

Florida Holds No Fears for the Grant Field 'Jinx.'

By Jack Troy.

There is something about the Tech-Florida game to be played Saturday at Grant field that keeps reminding you of the inebriated person at a big eastern game.

A flock of ducks flew over the field. They wheeled smartly into formation and headed south. That is, all save one lone duck that flew uncertainly about above the field.

The inebriated person forgot all about the game. He stood up and pointed. "Hey, hey," he yelled, "they went that way."

Well, the Tech-Florida game is going to be something like this. Spectators may be on their feet often. Not inebriated spectators, of course. But they may be on their feet, just the same, because both teams are going to throw a lot of passes.

MAY CLICK.

And there is no telling which way they may go. They may click and then, on the other hand, an enthusiastic player may be in there to intercept one and set out for glory.

It is going to be a spectacular, open game. And the Florida team will be in there to take all numbers of chances and gamble for victory.

Tech is conceded an edge in the game, but it must be regarded as a slight edge. Because the Fighting Gators will stake all to win it.

Each team has won one conference victory. Seawee was the victim in each case. Florida can call it a successful season if the Tech game is won.

So the burden is on Tech, what will the Georgia game coming up on the following Saturday. Tech must use its battered regulars and limited reserves sparingly in the game. And so it is to be a wide open game, with plenty of chance taking and gambling.

NOT AFRAID.

The Gators hold no fear of a Tech jinx on Grant field any more. They still remember the memorable rout of 1930.

Florida came here as the decided underdog. And it seemed that the rating was justified when Tech scored midway of the first quarter and kicked extra point.

Then the Florida team went to work. There was a march of 95 yards for a touchdown, after Tech had fumbled with a second touchdown apparently assured.

The Gators scored three more touchdowns in the second period, two more in the third period and two more in the final period. Reserves rushed the latter two across.

The final score was 55 to 7. And to Florida team's Grant field jinx was broken, once and for all.

No other Florida team except the team of 1930 ever has beaten Tech on Grant field. But last year the Gators surged from behind on Florida field at Gainesville and scored their second victory over the Jackets since 1912.

GATOR VICTORY.

Tech was leading by two touchdowns to none in the third period when Florida became aroused, scored two touchdowns and Bill Stark kicked the one extra point that was needed for a Gator victory.

Captain Billy Chase and Bob Ivey, Gator backs, are outstanding kickers and passers. They will harass the Jackets in both departments. And the fact that Tech has won seven of the 11 games in the series does not mean a thing. There is no Grant field jinx for the Gators any more.

Tech continued light drizzle yesterday at Grant field. There has been nothing more strenuous than touch tackle for the Jackets this week. And consequently the players are in better condition and in high spirits. They have recovered from the tough battle with Alabama.

ARRIVE TODAY.

The Florida team, accompanied by Coaches Dutch Stanley, Ben C. Glendon, Rainey Cawthon and others, will arrive here early today and practice this afternoon on Grant field.

The Gators are attributing to Coach W. A. Alexander a statement something like the one made by Bill Terry, of the Giants, a year ago. Terry asked: "Is Brooklyn still in the league?"

Well, Florida folks think Coach Alex committed a similar faux pas when he is alleged to have declared before a season opened that the three games he expected Tech to win were Presbyterian, Seawee and Florida.

The Gators are pretty indignant about it. They claim they are still in the Southeastern conference and intend to prove it Saturday.

Here is the record of the Tech-Florida games since 1912:

1912—Florida 6; Georgia Tech 14.
1913—Florida 3; Georgia Tech 13.
1914—Florida 7; Georgia Tech 7.
1924—Florida 7; Georgia Tech 7.
1925—Florida 7; Georgia Tech 23.
1926—Florida 7; Georgia Tech 19.
1927—Florida 55; Georgia Tech 7.
1928—Florida 0; Georgia Tech 23.
1929—Florida 0; Georgia Tech 8.
1930—Florida 7; Georgia Tech 19.
1934—Florida 18; Georgia Tech 12.

Tech's 19-Year-Old Finesse-r

All set to charge against Florida Saturday at Grant field is J. P. Morgan, Tech's Finesse-R of the flanks. The hard-playing sophomore end is only 19 years old. In over half the games this year he was 18. For he celebrated the arrival of his 19th milestone following Tech's victory over Duke. He was one of the best players on the field that day. Staff photo by Kenneth Rogers.

Tech's Young Gridmen Include J. P. Morgan, 19

Missouri Lad Celebrated 19th Birthday Following Victory Over Duke.

By Jack Troy.

J. P. Morgan, the Finesse-R of the Georgia Tech flanks, has just turned 19. And so, the story of the hard-working co-op at Tech who was discovered on the campus and invited to come out for the team, takes on added glamour.

Morgan is a Missouri boy. And the spirit of the Missouri people—"I'm from Missouri, show me!"—has been the spirit of J. P. (Jim) Morgan in football at Tech. He has been very willing and eager to learn. As a result, he is one of the best end prospects Tech has had in many years.

Jim Morgan was 18 years old when he reported for spring practice. Blessed with the build of a Missouri mule, or at least the hardness of that famous animal, Morgan worked hard and finally made the first string this fall.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY.

In more than half the games Morgan was 18 years old. He celebrated his 19th birthday following Tech's victory over Duke. During the week that followed—October 23, to be exact—Morgan reached his 19th milestone. They may talk of Jim Hutchins, the 18-year-old wonder fullback on the North Carolina team. But Hutchins has not been more valuable to the Jackets than Morgan has been to the Jackets. And this takes into consideration the fact that Hutchins is a back and Morgan is a lineman.

In the Duke game, for instance, Morgan was a potent factor at left end. He was removed late in the game in favor of Ed Jones, another young sophomore on the Tech squad, because Jones is better on the end around play.

END AROUND.

Jones scored Tech's touchdown following Morgan's removal. It was, of course, the end around play. Previously, Duke thrusts at the flank protected by Morgan were repelled. He had played one of the best games on the field.

Tech has one of the youngest teams in the conference. It may be the youngest. But the boys are taking on football age. Which is to say, experience.

And in the Florida game Saturday it might be well to look for the number of J. P. Morgan, the Tech finesse-r. He is the baby member of the squad. But he is as rugged as a Missouri mule. He charges into the interference and either breaks it up or hauls two or three players down with him.

A powerful specimen is Jim Morgan. And, withal, a great prospect.

McKnight To Miss Columbus Game; Milner May Start

Harry Harman Is Ready To Go at Tackle; Mehre Believes Team That Is Luckiest Will Win Georgia-Auburn Game.

By Jack Troy.

It is Coach Harry Mehre's guess that the team that is the luckiest will win the Auburn-Georgia game Saturday at Columbus.

"I don't know what my boys will do Saturday," said Coach Mehre through the medium of long-distance last night. "It has been our worst week of the season."

"They may bounce back against Auburn. The boys are rather bruised and battered and Maurice Green, fullback, and John McKnight, center, will not play."

"But despite all this I think we will give Auburn a good game. The team that is the luckiest will probably win. And I don't think there will be much scoring."

"What is really encouraging?" the intrepid reporter asked.

"SEASON NEARS END. 'What's encouraging? Why, the season's about over,' brightly responded Coach Mehre, who has a way of quick kicking like this and putting you back on your own one-yard telephone line, first down and ten to go, if you can go at all."

Harry Harman, the Atlanta boy, has recovered from injuries and will start in the game, Coach Mehre said. Harman has the edge in experience on Tom Haygood, another Atlanta boy, who has been filling in at Harman's tackle position.

It may be that Brick Stone will open at center for the Bulldogs. Stone has been playing third-string center, but he has improved to such an extent that he may get the call over all rivals with McKnight definitely out. On the other hand, Milner may start.

NO REST YET. The Bulldogs are not in a position to point for the Tech game Saturday week. They must take the tough ones as they come. This precludes any possibility of Coach Mehre resting the regulars in any part of the Auburn game.

The probability is, as Coach Mehre said, that the team that gets the luckiest will win. And there will be a minimum of scoring.

So the fans at Columbus probably will see one of the finest games in the ancient and honorable rivalry between Georgia and Auburn.

Harry Harman Ready for Game.

By Felton Gordon.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 21.—Three of Georgia's injury-stricken players returned to top flight form today as the varsity performed creditably on defense against the Reds and on offense with freshmen as obstructions.

Harry Harman, Paul Causey and Hugh O'Farrell were in fine fettle, giving promise of great effectiveness against the Auburn Tigers at Columbus Saturday. Harman, running with the varsity again, apparently has reclaimed his varsity right tackle post.

According to Dr. H. I. Reynolds, university physician, Bob Law, center, suffering from a kick in the head, is the only doubtful player for the game.

Coach Mehre had Edwin Stone, Athens, running with the varsity squad today as a solution to the center problem.

Displaying the speed of an antelope, Red Holland along with Bill Hartman and Johnny Jones, were the stars of the varsity running attack.

PRISONER CHARGES THEFT IN 'LOCK-UP'

Jailed Man Claims He Was Robbed of $2.60 in Local Bastille.

Complaint of a prisoner that $2.60 was taken from him as he slept in the fourth floor "lock-up" of Atlanta police headquarters resulted last night in charges of disorderly conduct, robbery being placed against two men.

The alleged robbery was the second incident to occur on the fourth floor recently, a brawl occurring there Wednesday night which sent a man to Grady hospital for treatment, and his alleged assault on a charge of intoxication.

According to police, the fight started shortly after W. A. White was brought in on a charge of intoxication. He was so badly beaten, according to police, he required treatment at the hospital.

White named George Relford as his assailant and at a hearing before Recorder John L. Come yesterday afternoon, Relford was sentenced to 20 days in jail on charges of assault and battery.

In the other case, W. J. Hall, 52, 1107 Kirkwood avenue, S. E.; Bob Moon, 36, and Frank Brown, 18, 218 Berant avenue, S. E., were brought to the headquarters about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon on charges of intoxication.

Hall told Turnkey W. A. Cheung he laid down to sleep, and when he awoke the $2.60 in his pockets was missing. He accused Moon and Brown, according to police, and the disorderly conduct-robbery charge was placed against them.

They will be arraigned in recorder's court today.

Williamson System Makes Tigers, Jackets Favorites This Week-End

Auburn is favored over Georgia Saturday, with a tie game possible, according to the Williamson system. Auburn has a much higher rating in the nation because of the hard schedule played.

Georgia Tech is favored, without reservations, over Florida. The Jackets and Gators play here at Grant field. Auburn and Georgia battle at Columbus.

These are the games of principal interest in the Southeastern conference. Mississippi State, playing Sewanee, is a heavy favorite.

EXPLANATION: (Figure after each team taken from current Williamson football rating table. Ratings based on 100 for the "perfect team.") x-Friday afternoon, y-Friday night, z-Saturday, w-Sunday, v-Predicted, u-Unknown, t-Meaning win for No. 1 team; 2, means win for No. 2 team; 3, means possible tie game; B, means reversed prediction according to Williamson ratings. Auburn Rated Slight Favorite Over Georgia by Dan McGugin

EX-COACH PICKS FLORIDA TO WIN FROM JACKETS

Says Tech Is Trying to Get In Shape for Georgia Game.

By Dan McGugin.

Director of Athletics, Vanderbilt University.

(Copyright, 1935, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 21.—Georgia has some great backs, so has Auburn. Georgia played a superb game against Alabama even while losing, and a great game against Tulane. Auburn gets the shade because her line is probably slightly better.

I am inclined to pick Florida against Georgia Tech, partly because Tech will be trying desperately to get in shape to meet Georgia the following week, a game which means more than all the others.

Louisiana and Tulane have real games against Southwestern and Louisiana Normal. I favor Centenary over Mississippi because Mississippi will be looking forward a week for her annual rival, Mississippi State.

On Thanksgiving Day, Tennessee and Kentucky will battle with the spirit born of desperation. Kentucky, with Davis, one of the great backs of the year, has a little better running attack. Tennessee should be better at the passing game. A victory means everything for Kentucky, while the Volunteers, after four defeats, may not be able to rally, but I believe they will.

Both Alabama and Vanderbilt have great lines. Alabama has more first-class backs. Vanderbilt has many seniors who will be fighting hard to wind up with a victory. Dixon's punting may keep Alabama back in her territory, and if so, Vanderbilt has a chance to win.

PETRELS WORK FOR MERCER TILT

Oglethorpe football team faces a drastic shakeup today as the Petrels begin heavy work for the annual Thanksgiving Day game with Mercer at Macon. Rough scrimmages will continue Friday and the early part of next week, Coach Patrick said.

The changes were due to the inconsistency of the Petrels in their past few games and Coach Patrick is hoping to close the season with one of the best games.

In the backfield, Forkner will replace Sullivan. Clyburn or Wade will replace Farmer and Gerson will run in Leslie's place. Only Puryear at quarterback will remain from the past starting combinations.

Captain McNamara at end has not been up to his standard of last year due to injuries and other reasons, and will be replaced by McGee. Waters will replace Pickard, in another line change and McCullough's place at center is still uncertain. McCullough is recovering from a recent injury, but will not play any more this year.

Their remaining practices will be behind closed gates as the Petrels are concentrating on beating Mercer in their annual game.

A Georgia 'Gator

Ted "Bugs" Hendricks, shown above, is a Thomasville, Ga., boy who plays fullback for the Fighting 'Gators of the University of Florida, Tech's opponent Saturday at Grant field. Hendricks has been playing good ball this year. He stepped in when Hub McNally was hurt and produced in a manner that pleased the coaches. Special photo.

U. S. Just two 100-pound boys who can run the 100 in 9.8."

Princeton-Dartmouth—The only meeting of two unbeaten teams this week. Princeton is equipped with more weapons than Dartmouth carries, and that is a big part of the story. But they were betting 5 to 1 on North Carolina over Duke, or giving Duke 14 points and even money. Any psychological advantage belongs to Dartmouth. But we still trail with Princeton and the Tiger reserves.

California-Stanford—One of the toughest selections of the year. California has played the better football since late September, week by week. It has been the better football team all fall. But Stanford, at home, is in the ideal spot to bump off an unbeaten team. We are picking Stanford to beat a better all-season football team.

Rice-Texas Christian—Our leading scout in the southwest suggested early in October that we keep an eye on Texas Christian and watch it move forward and upward. Texas Christian has been developing week by week. We'll string by a nod with T. C. U.

Harvard-Yale—Harvard at its best after a rough season, but Yale better equipped with backfield consistency. Yale has slight margin in a close game.

Michigan-Ohio State—Ohio State has too many football players for Michigan to wrap up. The Scarlet and Gray over the Maize and Blue.

Iowa-Northwestern—One of those nip and tuck encounters with little advantage either way. Northwestern by a half stride.

Notre Dame-Southern California—Southern California has been on her way up for three weeks. A hard game for Notre Dame, but still the advantage belongs to South Bend.

Southern Methodist-Baylor—The

THE ROUNDUP.

Mustangs of S. M. U. belong on top in this Texas tie-up.

Duke-North Carolina State—Duke has the edge with a strong team that has hit its stride.

Auburn-Georgia—One of the best and hardest on the list. Little either way, but Auburn has been coming fast and is therefore handed what this margin might be.

Minnesota-Wisconsin—Only the season's largest upset could save Wisconsin. Minnesota's power plant and her finesse are more than Wisconsin should handle.

Chicago-Illinois—Last college game for the brilliant Berwanger. But Illinois has more troops and should win.

Bitsy Fears There's a 'Catch' to Big Chance

'Tis Because U. S. Plays Australia in Challenge Round.

By Jack Troy.

Bryan Grant was very properly pleased to learn that the United States Lawn Tennis Association is going to give him a chance to make the Davis cup team next year.

"All I have asked for three years is a chance," Bitsy said. "I hope I can make the team."

There's a catch in it, Bitsy thinks, regarding his chances to go abroad should he make the team. This is because the United States plays Australia in a challenge round on this side of the Atlantic.

"It would be just my luck," said the pessimistic young champion, "to go ahead and make the team and then lose to Australia. I may never get abroad."

FRIENDS CONFIDENT.

This is just Bitsy's idea, however. Atlanta friends believe that all he needs is a chance. He has everything else to insure success.

The U. S. L. T. A. has never done right by Grant. Not even after he had been selected for the cup matches against Mexico City and China and went ahead and won his four singles matches.

Bitsy Grant

Grant Hopes Nothing Will Prevent Team Going Abroad.

For, after the team came back, Grant was left behind on the trip abroad. The United States team suffered a very fine rout which tennis fans in this section enjoyed to the highest degree.

The mighty midget had such a very fine season on grass this past year that the U. S. L. T. A. was definitely put on the spot in regard to giving him a better ranking and also a Davis cup chance.

GREAT PATIENCE.

Grant defeated every leading American player and then stood by. He has great patience, has the little Grant man, and he is now being rewarded.

But he is thinking about Australia now. Something like this is always happening to take the joy out of life.

No one is worried about the team's chances against Australia except Grant, however. And he may be doing it with a tongue in his cheek.

The big thing is that recognition finally has come to the big little man from the south. He has waited around a long time to get it.

Purple Reserves Beat O'Keefe, 26-0

Boys' High reserve team defeated the O'Keefe Junior High eleven, 26 to 0, Thursday afternoon on the O'Keefe field.

Three blocked punts enable the Purple reserves to score three touchdowns and Hickman ran 70 yards for the other score. Brown, tackle, blocked a punt and recovered for a touchdown. Seal blocked a punt and Sheldon scored and Clark blocked another kick and Burke scored. The O'Keefe eleven played good defensive football except for the long run.

ALABAMA MEETS MOREHOUSE HERE

Backed by the full strength of its annual team, Morehouse College, undefeated to date this season, will face the hardest battle of the football year this afternoon when it meets the Alabama State College eleven at 4 o'clock at Ponce de Leon park.

On the basis of their games within the conference, the two teams are evenly matched with four wins, one tie and no losses. However, Alabama has had a much heavier schedule than Morehouse and the advantage of greater experience. To date Alabama has played eight games, as compared with Morehouse's five, and has rolled up a grand total of 128 points against 41 for the opposition. Morehouse has scored 95 points against the opposition's 25.

The cheer the visitors on to victory, Alabama is bringing along her 45-piece band which is directed by "Doc" Crawford, well-known Atlanta musician and recent graduate of Morehouse College, and a senior 20 color pep rooster. On the Morehouse side music will be dispersed by the Maroon and White band under the direction of Willis Laurence James, formerly director of music at Alabama State.

TOO MANY BEAUS

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY

INSTALLMENT XXVII.

"I don't know whether I like your being here," he said paternally. "It's too hard work for a kid like you—standing on your feet till all hours."

"I won't mind," Sugar polished at the counter. "It's better than expecting Mrs. Le Masters to walk in and bite your head off any minute. But I will miss Skeeter."

Scoop could see the pain in her eyes.

"I'm going to take you to Aunt Bridget," his jaw squared. "You've got to stop this nonsense and let me take care of you, Lollypop."

"Not yet. Maybe in a little while. Let's wait and see how things go. I'd rather wait until I've saved enough money to be independent."

"That's nonsense."

Scoop's heart beat painfully at sight of the girl he loved in a maid's uniform waiting at a soda fountain. Traveling men from the hotel, the town swains, were sure to make her life miserable. She was too appealing. But he knew it wasn't fair to worry Sugar with his fears.

He grinned and picked up his drink.

"Well, here's how. I'll stand by, honey. And I suppose I'll grow old and fat eating and drinking, just to be where I can look at you."

Scoop wanted to ask her for a date. But he thought it best to bide his time. There was some reason why Sugar didn't want to go out with him. Perhaps it might be that she was afraid of Mrs. Le Masters' criticism. In her new job she should be allowed more freedom. But he didn't want the disappointment of being turned down if he did ask Sugar to have dinner and go to the movies with him on her night off. So he left the counter without quite gathering up the nerve to ask if he might see her.

It was after Sugar had been home for her dinner that Johnny came in. She almost dropped a dish when she saw he was with a girl. A little brunette with a wide painted mouth, and hair cut like a boy. Sugar averted her face and dusted the glass back of the counter until she got her bearings. Then she walked over to their table stiffly.

"Something for you?" She managed to get the words out, but they sounded thin.

"Chocolate malted." The girl looked her over critically, between chews of gum.

Johnny's eyes had been all for his companion. But when he looked up and recognized Sugar his face turned gray.

"Hello, Johnny!" She tried to be airy. Then her sense of humor at sight of his expression saved the day. "What'll it be for you?" she smiled.

"Hello," Johnny said hollowly.

"Why, hello."

"You look surprised," Sugar raised her brows. "I just got the job today. Nice of you to come in and give us your business. How about a nice 'We call it a Christian land, but I never hear anybody fussin' about the lack of parkin' space around a church.'"

(Copyright, 1935, for The Constitution.)

"I haven't," Sugar thought it would be the very best way in the world to show Johnny how she felt. And if she lost her job she could go to New York with Scoop.

"I'll go," she decided, breathlessly. "So help me!"

Carter was disappointed that no one he knew saw him strolling home with Sugar. In his mood of defiance he would have enjoyed meeting anyone who would have been good enough to carry tales to Jane Lee.

At the gate of the Sidel boarding house they halted, and Cart shook hands with her formally.

"I'm honored," he bowed low over her hand, and when he looked up, she saw the mischief in his blue eyes. "Be ready at 7:25 tomorrow evening, sharp."

She turned and waved at him from the doorway.

Mrs. Sidel had felt it her duty to stay awake until her new boarder came in. Her room faced the front and she could see the gate from her bed. In the light from the street she had established the identity of Sugar's escort beyond a doubt. It gave her a shock—a pleasant, thrilling one. So that was the reason the fine lady had wanted her to spy on the pretty little girl from the orphanage.

Mrs. Sidel lay staring into the night, torn between two fires. She loved romance. And Sugar's graciousness and young charm had worked its way into her heart. Why shouldn't such a sweet child have a right to her beaux, and her happiness? Just because Jim Carter Le Masters was rich didn't make him any better than anyone else.

The landlady wrestled with her problem far into the night. But before she fell asleep she had made up her mind about spying. Come what may, she said to herself, she would watch her boarder. Having made up her mind, she turned over and closed her weary eyes.

Sugar broke the Sabbath to launder her green silk dress. All day long she fussed with her wardrobe. Late in the afternoon she took a long, hot bath and washed her shining curls. She was determined to look as lovely as possible when Cart came to see her.

And she thought it strange that all feeling of fear had left her. It didn't matter, so far as she was concerned, what the outcome of her date with Jim Carter meant. It didn't matter if the whole world fell down around her pretty ears. She expected to lose her job anyway, and she might as well teach Johnny a lesson about it. If he could run around with silly little gum chewing brunettes, she could do as she pleased, too.

When it came near time for Cart to arrive, Sugar went down to sit on the porch. She was radiant in her excitement. Her cheeks blossomed like cherries, and her eyes danced.

Then a dreadful fear assailed her. What if Jim Carter's wardrobe show up? Suppose he thought things over and changed his mind? She felt she couldn't live if he did. The last five minutes seemed like an hour. And when she saw Johnny's tan runabout turn into Fleet street her heart jumped into her throat.

She met Cart at the gate, and stumbled into the car in her excitement.

"Bless me!" Jim Carter's eyes rested on her loveliness. "You look like a little wild rose, sweet lady."

She blushed even more deeply, and looked away.

"I—I guess I'm a little excited. We are being very reckless, you know. I expect to get put in jail, or something."

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Farley, Ph.D.

Unless the box should be very large an eagle would not be able to fly out of it, for this bird requires so much room for its "take-off" that it cannot get launched in such a small space. A French military academy has usually requires quite an open space to run, spread its wings and lift itself into flight. An eagle would not be able to fly out of a hole in the ground even if there was plenty of room for a complete spread of its wings. Likewise, an open box would imprison the bird.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

THE RISE AND FALL OF NAPOLEON.

V—Lost Battles and St. Helena.

Hunger and bad weather, more than bullets, made Napoleon fail to conquer Russia, but less than a year after his return to France he met defeat on the battlefield.

After gathering a new army, he marched into Germany with 200,000 men. Napoleon's men defeated the Austrians at Dresden, but later they were faced by 300,000 Germans, Austrians and others near Leipzig. This time the Frenchmen lost. Those who were not killed or captured were driven back across the Rhine river. It was called "the Battle of the Nations."

Next spring the enemies of France reached Paris. Napoleon was forced to give up his rule over France, and was sent to the island of Elba. A Bourbon was placed on the French throne, and was hailed as King Louis XVIII.

If a better guard had been kept around Napoleon's island home, the people of Europe would have spared a great deal of bloodshed. As it was, Napoleon escaped. A sailing vessel slipped past the British fleet, and the little general was aboard. He reached France after being away for only 10 months.

His old soldiers—those who were left alive—flocked around him. He marched into Paris, and King Louis left.

Napoleon knew that the other nations of Europe were not willing to have him rule France, so he went forth to "strike a blow" at them. On the field of Waterloo, in Belgium, his soldiers charged against an army of British, Germans, Dutch and Belgians. A French victory seemed possible for a time, but then came a Prussian army to help the allies.

Down in defeat went the soldiers of Napoleon. It was the end of the general's battles. The Duke of Wellington, British leader of the allies, was hero of the day.

Back to Paris went Napoleon, but this time he did not meet the same honor as in days gone by. Other leaders of the French wanted him to get out of the way, to let France make peace.

To the coast went Napoleon, hoping to find a vessel to take him to the United States.

What trouble, if any, Napoleon would have caused the United States, we can only guess. His way was blocked, and he saw nothing to do but go aboard a British ship in the harbor, "Bellerophon."

This time he was kept captive closely, and was sent to a small rocky island in the South Atlantic. The island is known as St. Helena, and it was Napoleon's home during the last six years of his career.

On St. Helena, the one-time general and emperor had time to think of the way he had spent his life. His mind must have been sad when he thought of the lives wasted during the wars he had fought.
